

The House Of Saxon Inspires Modern Style With Badger Hair Shaving Brush

June 26, 2015

June 26, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

San Francisco, CA based company, The House Of Saxon, has announced that their highly modern badger hair shaving brush has quickly become a hit with consumers. The soft bristled brush reportedly delivers smooth and comfortable application of shave foam, cream, or suds, while still allowing for a generous lather. They are made using all natural authentic badger hair, which the company believes is far superior to imitation brushes that contain nylon or other synthetic materials. Currently it is available through the company's online sales channel for $35.97.

One of the aspects of the brush which has been commented on by customers is the beautiful exterior of the product, which almost appears as a lacquered wood finish with chrome embellishments. The company has suggested that aside from being nice to look at, this type of brush also offers a durability that can't be found elsewhere, especially in terms of shedding. They have said that slight shedding is normal, and that brushes that don't shed at all should not be trusted, as they are more than likely synthetic and could scratch at the skin rather than smoothly coating it for a clean shave. One satisfied customer said the following regarding their own experience with the brush: "The brush arrived quickly, and in a sleek black modern box. In person, the brush itself is a beautiful piece, with a nice solid weight, and classy chrome accents. Functionally, the brush has soft yet stiff bristles that evenly distribute shaving cream onto my face, and thoroughly lift and saturate each whisker. I am getting an incredibly close and comfortable shave with this brush. It was worth the price and I would definitely recommend picking one up."

The House Of Saxon is reportedly known for their high end products and classy reputation, and this is another product that they stand firmly behind in this regard. They feel so strongly, in fact, about the quality of the brush that they have offered a 100% customer satisfaction guarantee. They promise that those buyers who do not enjoy their experience with the product can return it without any questions asked. They also suggest that individuals store the brush with its bristles down when not in use to prolong its life. Customers seem to reflect this feeling of loyalty and satisfaction toward the shaving tool, as another commented in saying: "WOW, this is gorgeous! When I received this, I was amazed by the quality and beauty of it. The bristles of the brush is very soft and feels great on your skin. They are made from authentic badger hair and not some cheap synthetic material. The handle is sturdy and well made. I insist that my husband leave this sitting out on our bathroom counter because it is so beautiful."

The House of Saxon invites those interested in trying the brush to visit them online at <http://www.preptrust.com/ShavingBrush> Here, new customers can read past testimonials, view photos of the brush, and read the company FAQs made available through the sales page.

###

For more information about The House of Saxon, contact the company here: The House of Saxon V. Williams 669-444-0408 support@thehouseofsaxon.com 3450 Sacramento St #317 San Francisco, CA 94118

The House of Saxon

The House of Saxon established in 2014, is a small, San Francisco, CA company known for quality, as well as unparalleled customer support. Using quality control and sourcing, they aim to deliver high quality shaving products at a competitive price.

Website: <http://preptrust.com/ShavingBrush>

Email: support@thehouseofsaxon.com

Phone: 669-444-0408

