AromaOils, a business in Lewisburg, PA, has recently released their all natural tea tree oil to the market. Scientific research has demonstrated that the only ingredient in their product, Tea Tree Oil, is very beneficial in terms of helping people with skin tags, nail fungus and acne. To enable more people to experience the benefits of this oil, they have released it at a 66% discount for a limited time only and while stocks last.

"Tea tree oil is an amazing natural product that has various significant health benefits", says John Jenkins, co-founder of AromaOils. "We have known this for some time now, but it was great to hear that the scientific community, who are often quite scathing about natural remedies, agreed with these benefits. To celebrate this, we are offering our oil at a significant discount for a limited time only."

The tea tree essential oil usually costs $49.99, but is now available for just $16.97. It also comes with a full 90 day money back guarantee for those who do not experience the benefits it offers. The oil can be used in a diffuser for aromatherapy, as an addition to carrier oil for massages, as an additive to your hair conditioner and skin toner and moisturizer, and it is 100% natural.

Indeed, tea tree is known to be an all round health protector. Tea tree essential oil comes from the leaves of the Melaleuca alternifolia, which is a myrtle tree native to Australia. It has long been used as a tea (hence the name, which was given to it by Captain James Cook when he went to Australia in 1770) by the Aboriginals, who have used it for various health benefits. Captain Cook then started using it himself and giving it to his crew in order to combat scurvy. Since then, it has been used in many different remedies and the scientific communities is continuously researching it in order to demonstrate newer and greater benefits.

Some of the greatest benefits of pure tea tree oil include that it helps to clear up acne, that it can fight fungal infections and that it combats bacterial infections. Added to that, the oil smells wonderful, which is why it is also used in a variety of different ways simply for the enjoyment of it.

AromaOils has been selling their pure tea tree oil for some time now, and it has received numerous positive reviews. "As age comes so does the "side effects" of aging", says Kristina K. S. "I have noticed skin tags and it is very embarrassing. I got this tea tree oil and applied it to my skin tags and they are gone!!! This is great to use when I give my husband back massages after a long day and the smell is soothing. I am hooked on this tea tree oil!
