Plumber In Greenwood Announces Expanded Water Heater Services

March 06, 2018

March 06, 2018 -
Greenwood, IN March 201 - Midwest Plumbing Greenwood, a plumbing company that serves the Greenwood, IN area, recently made an announcement regarding its expanded water heater services. The company stated that it has decided to greatly expand the water heater services that it will be offering to IN-area residents.

Midwest Plumbing Greenwood went on to state that its expanded services will include inspection, repair, and replacement of all electric, gas, and hybrid water heaters. The company announced that one of the reasons for these expanded services is that the water heaters of today are not the water heaters of even a few years ago. Midwest Plumbing Greenwood stated that water heater technology has changed, and the company has expanded its services in order to adapt to those changes, especially since IN homeowners have been very quick to utilize the latest water heater technology.

Midwest Plumbing Greenwood went on to state that another reason that it has expanded its services is customer demand. According to Midwest Plumbing Greenwood, IN-area residents have been clamoring for expanded water heater services, and the company is pleased to announce that it has met that demand. Midwest Plumbing stated that the demand for water heater repair and replacement services is high among IN-area homeowners, because water heaters serve such an essential function in the home.

Midwest Plumbing Greenwood also stated that its expanded water heater replacement and repair services not only apply to residential water heaters, but to commercial water heaters as well. Midwest Plumbing Greenwood announced that it has expanded its water heater services for businesses throughout Greenwood, IN and the surrounding area. The company stated that it does employ service technicians for this task, as well as gas fitters. Midwest Plumbing Greenwood stressed the importance of regularly maintaining both commercial and residential water heaters.

In its closing statements, Midwest Plumbing Greenwood described itself as a family-owned, customer-focused plumbing services provider. Midwest Plumbing Greenwood also stated that, in the interest of safety and quality, all of its technicians are licensed and insured, and it employs master plumbers and gas fitters. Midwest Plumbing Greenwood concluded by stating that it does operate on a 24/7 basis, in order to best accommodate its customers.
