Harvard educated Attorney Joe Mitchell has finally come out with his special report about what insurance companies often hide from their clients. "Here's the question for you: do you know what your rights are?" asks a spokesperson for the company. "Do you understand your limitations and what you can demand from these insurance companies? Having the knowledge in these things will give you more confidence to ask for what you want. A lot of times, many insurance holders pass up on many benefits that these insurance companies can give because they don't bother to read the fine print."

The newsletter is jam-packed with all kinds of insurance information that only Mr. Mitchell can deliver. "I never realized how much I needed to learn about these insurance companies", says John D. "The newsletter offers helpful information that I can use. It is written in a comprehensive way so I can understand them easily. After I read the report, I now feel like I can stand my ground when I ask for what is rightfully mine."

Mr. Mitchell graduated from Stanford University with honors before he went to Harvard University to get his law degree. He has extensive experience in criminal law, civil litigation in state and federal courts during his career in Boston and Philadelphia and has been giving help for accident victims and offering personal injury legal advice for over two decades now. He believes in educating the public about personal injury laws through his blogs and reports, and is known for being results-oriented, down-to-earth, responsive, and trustworthy. Many of his clients appreciate his personal approach, since he likes to keep in touch with them throughout the duration of the case just to make sure that they understand what is happening.

"All our clients are like family to us", says Mr. Mitchell. "And like families, they deserve to be treated with the utmost respect, consideration, and sensitivity."

His clients couldn't agree more: "July of last year I was hit by a car and injured; I sustained a lot of injuries that will be with me for the rest of my life. Joe and his team were very understanding and they would call and make sure I was okay. I contacted him on a Tuesday and was seeing a therapist within a week, which helped me out a lot and that was Godsend. I was always updated on my case and everything was really on top. I am very thankful and just wanted to say thank you. This money will come in handy. Thank you very much. "

Mr. Mitchell's special report is available in e-book format. He also offers free consultations for accident victims aside from the valuable information he offers through his blogs and reports. You can
