Houston, TX nutrition company Nurturition has recently launched their latest product, a vitamin B12 supplement. In line with this, Nurturition has also announced that they have released information on the benefits of taking B12 supplements. Full information about these benefits is available on Nurturition's website.

"Vitamin B12 is one of the most essential vitamins in our body," explains Alice from Nurturition. "Yet, it's the vitamin that remains a mystery to scientists to this day. Despite the mystery and complexity surrounding this vitamin, scientists agree that B12 is vital to optimal health."

Some of the health benefits associated with vitamin B12 include the fact that it helps the body to form new red blood cells. It also plays a key role in protecting the overall central nervous system. Being part of the B-complex vitamin family, it also helps with the production of energy. Ensuring proper levels of B12 helps people to prevent a range of ailments. Taking 5,000mcg daily is enough to easily maintain the right level.

Alice adds: "Those who are over 50 in particular should consider taking a B12 supplement. As you age, your body slowly loses the ability to absorb B12. Fortunately, you can easily maintain a healthy level of B12 by taking our supplement daily with your meal."

It should be noted that vitamin B12 is only found in animal-based products. This means that vegetarians are at particular risk of becoming deficient. Nurturition, however, has created the supplement in such a way that it is suitable for vegetarians.

People are also encouraged to visit Nurturition's storefront on Amazon. Here, all their supplements are listed, which include not just the latest vitamin B12, but also their turmeric, fish oil, and probiotic supplements. Alice explains: "We want to provide people with all the help they need to ensure they can live a healthy, happy lifestyle, free from any illnesses and conditions. We guarantee the quality and efficiency of our products. The huge amount of positive reviews we have received in a relatively short period of time speak for themselves."
