

ProMedia Group Adds Diego Pelaez To Audio Visual Team

April 25, 2018

Tampa, Florida - April 25, 2018 -
Florida-based Audio Visual Solutions company, The ProMedia Group, has been looking to try and excel their brand in the vast and competitive marketplace of videographers and visual content creation. With more and more companies trying to introduce innovative and creative ideas that distinguish their brand from the rest and try to capture the marketplace, The ProMedia Group has acquired the assistance of highly experienced and immensely skilled Diego Pelaez from Vector Media Productions. The ProMedia Group expects this to help them establish their brand as one of the leading Audio Visual companies, as well as providing them with efficient videographer tools and media avenues to explore using digital signage.

While The ProMedia Group has had years of considerable excellence in this environment; which lead them to be industry leaders in single-source providing of high-definition video conferencing, audio visual and networked solutions, they felt the need to capture a larger audience and dominate the market with attracting even more experience and skills.

Video content development is something they were looking to explore. In Diego Pelaez they have acquired an experienced individual who has the necessary expertise as well as the long years of experimentation and proven ground work to help the company in evolving in this field of modern video production. As a FAA certified drone pilot this make them establish their place in the competitive marketplace, but it will also help them to evolve and explore into various avenues of video production that they experiment in once they have established themselves as mainstay in this market.

Diego Pelaez will not only work on single-operated solo projects but as well as multiple crew based projects which show his variety of skills as well as capability to work with other individual and teach them his vast skill-set of video production and design. The ProMedia Group are looking to use this skill-set to provide their clientele, which mainly consists offices of various industries including legal, technology, healthcare, retail, government and other profession throughout the United States, with the highest quality of media solution service possible.
