May 03, 2018 -

Warner Robins GA: Full-time/full-service Realtor® Anita Clark of Coldwell Banker SSK has announced her expert military relocation services in Warner Robins, Georgia. Anita acknowledges that while uprooting oneself from familiar places and people to embrace a new city is not easy, overcoming the unnecessary hassle brought by military relocation can get much easier with her help.

On her website, Anita has shared a Military PCS (Permanent Change of Station) to Robins AFB Guide to help military service members in active duty go in the right direction when it's time for them to pack their belongings, move to their new home and set everything up again. A PCS refers to the official relocation of military service members from one duty station to another, or from a final duty station to his home upon discharge.

For years, Anita has been helping relocating military service members find the home of their dreams in Warner Robins GA, where chancing upon homes that are affordable and close to the military base at the same time can be a logistical nightmare.

As a retired Air Force military spouse, Anita is knowledgeable in the VA Loan Program, which military service members usually look into when relocating to Warner Robins GA. Not only is she well versed in the ins and outs of VA Loan Eligibility, she is also familiar with the real estate pricing fluctuations in the neighborhood so she can recommend not just homes that have access to everything that the city has to offer but are also easy on the pocket.

For military members who are preparing for their PCS, it is quite easy to get overwhelmed by all the things they need to accomplish between moving out and moving in. The good news, however, is that Anita and her team provide a PCS checklist to help clients stay organized and ensure that they do not skip a single step in the process. This list includes all the tasks that need to be done and when they need to be done?from packing to setting up in their new destination.

Being a market expert, Anita tailors her services to meet the individual needs of her clients. With at least 22 years of experience in real estate, she knows how to make one?s transition to Warner Robins GA as smooth as it can get. One of her previous clients, Stephen Randall, said, ?Anita?s expertise showed through every step of the house buying properties. She always looked out for our best interest and even recommended things that we would have never thought about. All in all, I would highly recommend using Anita if you are in need of a realtor.?
