

DK Products Group Releases Its Jewelry Travel Organizer Jewelry Roll Up In Black

June 30, 2015

June 30, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

SpecialtyStyles, a jewelry and fashion accessory company based in Ontario, Canada, has recently announced the release of its bestselling product in a new color: black. The product, a jewelry travel organizer, has been the company's top-selling product on Amazon. With the recent inclusion of the new color, the company is expected to continue its streak of consumer patronage.

The launch of the product in a new color is the result of positive customer feedback the jewelry roll up organizer has been receiving upon its release in its original pink color on Amazon.com. SpecialtyStyles take pride in listening to their customers' suggestions and are always open to customer feedback, and are proud to announce their bestselling product in a new color. Customer satisfaction is always the company's highest priority.

The product, soon to be released in an elegant black color, would also come with new additions and features. The jewelry travel organizer now has an additional pouch for post earrings under the present earring holder.

SpecialtyStyles have also announced that VIP members would have the opportunity to receive a complimentary black jewelry travel organizer before the product becomes available on Amazon. Details on how to become a VIP member to receive this wonderful gift are available on SpecialtyStyles' website.

Reviews for the jewelry travel organizer have been positive, based on Amazon customers. Laura S. left the product a 5 star rating, stating that the product is a "very high quality jewelry travel organizer to have." Laura also expressed her extreme satisfaction for the product:

"This jewelry organizer is perfect for organizing my jewelry. The feel to it is so great that it feels of high fashion quality. The slots for placing my jewelry in fitted just right when I put my jewelry in them. I also like the two extra bags for placing my large pieces of jewelry in. I now carry all my favorite jewelry with me in one place when I am either traveling or on the run. Another great feature is the zippers where instead of placing your earrings on the slotted holes, you can also put your rings in the pouches so that they won't be all clustered up. I will definitely recommend this product to my family and friends."

The jewelry and fashion accessory company plans on creating more useful products that will satisfy customers in the future. "We want to reach a market that appreciates beauty as a whole," the company's spokeswoman said recently in an interview. "By creating products that are both useful and aesthetically pleasing, we are sure to tap into a large market that has long deserved attention and care. That's what we're here for."
