1st Impression Marketing Solutions Now Offering Marietta Web Design

July 01, 2015

July 01, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Marietta, GA based marketing firm, 1st Impression Marketing Solutions, has announced that they will now be offering web design for businesses across Marietta and surrounding locations. This will include Smyrna, Kennesaw, Acworth, and the majority of Cobb County. This addition to the list of services provided is made in an effort to further support the company's clients in building better, more sustainable brands and businesses. They explain:

"When we say Atlanta web design, we mean the design, building and managing of any and all web or online related properties. As web designers, we look at the finished product as art, but more specifically as "art for money"...meaning that if our finished product doesn't help you find, attract, educate, sell or get your new potential customers to call or email you...then we're not doing our job."

The company has suggested that while web design seems like a common step to take in a marketing plan, many businesses let it slide beneath the radar. 1st Impression Marketing Solutions believes that this gives their clients a foot up in the marketing game as it could take very little to stand above the competition with very minor adjustments to a website and its content. They invite those interested in viewing this and other services offered, to visit them online on their website. Here businesses can read about services, consulting, current projects, read reviews from other satisfied customers and check out the company's informative blog articles.

Some of the additional services offered by Atlanta Web Designer 1st Impression Marketing Solutions includes logo design, video creation, book publishing, collection service reviews, landing page construction, marketing funnels, social media management, SEO, and much more. The company has reported that their staff is knowledgeable, with company owners who have been in the marketing and entrepreneurial field for 25 years. They have said the following regarding their customers both new and current:

"Whether you're a new business putting your initial marketing tools together or an existing business looking to improve and re-target your branding, we would love to be a part of your Atlanta web design or redesign project. We promise to listen well about your business...what's working and not working. We'll partner with you to develop the best marketing and design strategies to grow your business while making the greatest return on your investment."

When it comes to Marietta Web Design, the company is so enthusiastic in helping their clients reach better rankings and higher traffic results that they are offering a free review video to those businesses that call and inquire about the offer. They describe competitor marketing firms and their web design options as being less in tune with what consumers are really looking for, and encourage businesses to choose a firm who has the experience and passion necessary to create a site that works for them and their customers. All of the contact information for 1st Impression Marketing Solutions is available through their website. Interested parties can also interact with the company through their social media accounts, such as Facebook.
