

ProfitArcher Announces Digital Marketing Services For The Philadelphia Chiropractor

June 29, 2018

June 29, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

ProfitArcher, a digital marketing agency based in Wynnewood, PA, is proud to announce their new done-for-you digital marketing services geared specifically towards chiropractors in the Philadelphia region. The new service enables chiropractors to focus their website, email marketing, and social media on generating more leads. ProfitArcher aims to bring a more measurable, targeted approach to Digital Marketing for Chiropractors.

Greg Koorhan, founder of ProfitArcher says: "ProfitArcher was born to help simplify the increasingly complex challenge of prioritizing your efforts on those that will generate quality leads and convert those leads into more sales. Running a chiropractic office is already pulling the doctor in a million directions. We aim to be a point of relief for them, so they can focus on what they love about their business."

The new service is done-for-you, and ProfitArcher emphasizes each effort is strategic and measurable. Doing things in the proper order is critical to getting a return for chiropractic marketing.

"Relying on personal connections or word of mouth can only get your business so far, but without a consistent marketing program, you are just headed for burnout," continues Greg Koorhan. "Yet there are so many options, we understand it may be difficult to know what to do, in what order to do them, and what to avoid because it's just a waste of effort. That's why we created this program."

The company encourages booking a short quick-start call through their website, where they can help chiropractors figure out their next best steps, based on where they are currently in their business.

The company also posts chiropractic marketing information on their blog. Recently, they have revealed 10 marketing techniques designed specifically to make chiropractors stand out from the crowd. Greg Koorhan says: "We understand that the goal of your business is to offer the best quality chiropractic services. Our business is helping you help more people. Together, we can significantly increase the number of patients that walk through your doors."
