June 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Spring Safe and Sound, a business in Elkhart, Indiana, a business that produces magnetic cabinet locks, have just launched their dedicated "Customer Experience" Helpline. All customers are encouraged to contact the experienced customer service team at any point for questions or comment. The business hopes to help more people get the most out of their purchase.

"We wanted to make sure our customer service is as good as our product", says Sharon P Ring from Spring Safe and Sound. "As such, we have started our dedicated helpline on +1(347) 560 8951, where customers can contact us for any reason at all. This way, we hope to make sure that they are able to use our magnetic cabinet locks to their full potential."

To add to their new helpline, the business has also released a number of helpful hints on their website and through Facebook. The video is particularly beneficial, as it explains just why it is so important to baby proof a home by using cabinet locks. It also provides a range of other hints and tips that people can employ around their home in order to keep their children safe. Essentially, the video helps people to assess their homes for potential dangers, thereby hopefully preventing their child suffering a serious accident.

Spring Safe and Sound has always ensured that they listen to their customers. This is why they recently released their new magnetic lock packs on Amazon. The announcement was made on social media and the packs includes multiple pack sizes. These pack allow people to child proof as moany or as few of their cabinets and drawers as required.

The locks have been available for some time on Amazon, where they have received a range of positive reviews. "I love that they don't move so our baby can't get her fingers inside drawers at all and I love using the magnetic key so its not fiddly for my husband and I to open the drawers when we need quick access or when she's in bed you can disengage them", says L Smith. "I think my parents would love them for the disengage function they could use when she visits."

Within their reviews, customers have often made suggestions for slight improvements, such as including a second key in the pack. Spring Safe and Sound wants their customers to know that they listen to these suggestions and implement them where applicable. They also encourage customers to continue to give suggestions using the new Customer Experience helpline, through social media, Amazon or through any other medium available. Furthermore, they want to make sure everybody studies their helpful hints in order to make sure that they are able to keep their children safe all through the house.
