July 05, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

San Antonio TX: Distinguished San Antonio Realtor and Real Estate Muses broker Melissa Wiggans is set to appear on 'House Hunters' later this year. The episode of the popular HGTV series will feature a mid-century modern home located at 3910 Midvale in the Oak Hills neighborhood in San Antonio, designed by the widely acclaimed San Antonio-based architect O'Neil Ford.

Each episode of 'House Hunters' features individuals, couples and families as they learn what to look for in a home and decide whether or not a property is meant for them. The episode featuring Melissa and her team will air this fall and will put the spotlight on a San Antonio, TX home that perfectly suits lovers of mid-century architecture.

Designed by mid-20th century American architect and National Historic Landmark O'Neil Ford, the home was built in 1962 for Dr. Peter Wong, an anesthesiologist. In the 60's, the home was known throughout San Antonio as a cutting-edge modern home, set on a hill in the middle of an acre of land. It has four bedrooms, two and one half baths and two living rooms, designed around a central garden atrium with a koi pond, bamboo and Japanese maples. A mid-century modern gem, it was one of the six homes featured during the 19th Annual American Institute of Architects Home Tour in 2016. This home has been preserved and restored by its current owners and is currently available for sale.

The Ford home is one of few mid-century homes for sale in San Antonio. In the upcoming episode of "House Hunters", Melissa will take viewers behind the scenes as she shares potential homebuyers her knowledge of mid-century modern homes, which are in high demand, yet limited supply in San Antonio.

Melissa has been assisting real estate buyers and sellers for 12 years now and is one of the most trusted real estate agents in San Antonio today. Since getting her real estate license in 2006, Melissa has taken her craft seriously, earning different certifications in real estate. Today, she is a Certified Military Relocation Specialist, Certified Relocation Specialist, Accredited Buyer Representative, Senior Real Estate Specialist and Accredited Luxury Home Specialist, providing unparalleled real estate services to homebuyers and sellers in San Antonio. The company has been BBB-accredited since 2015 and its new A+ rating says a lot about the quality of services that Melissa and her team provide their clients.
