June 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cameron Group Inc, an insurance and financial agency for New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut contractors has recently launched its newsletter for June. "It's one of the most interesting newsletters we've ever done", says a spokesperson for the company. "If you are interested in safety travel tips when you go abroad this summer, anger management, trivia questions, and cellphone use of your kids, then this newsletter is of the best resources you can go to for information."

Brian Cameron, founder of NY-contractor Insurance.com and president of The Cameron-Group says: "We've taken great care to make sure that our newsletter is jam-packed with information from start to finish. It took us quite some time to brainstorm which topics would not only be interesting for our clients, but helpful as well. We hope that they'll like it."

NY-Company Insurance.com not only handles business liability, auto insurance and Worker's compensation. Its Contractor Program is an agency exclusive program, and it helps contractors get discounts that amount to hundreds, or sometimes, thousands of dollars. They also provide insurance policy review, recommendations, risk management and premium financing. Their most in-demand services are the Worker's Compensation and the Contractor General Liability programs.

P. Santroy of Univeral Designers Painting has only good words to say about NY-Contractors Insurance.com: "Just one phone call and Cameron Group saved me $1,277 on my liability insurance for my painting business. Your office was very helpful." he says.

The company's main pride is its prompt service. "You can buy your Contractor General Liability policy in the morning and show your Certificate of Insurance to your client in the afternoon", explains Cameron. "Our insurance service is second to none in the industry, and we guarantee our service 100%."

"Cameron Group has always given my company professional and courteous service. My Certificates of insurance were sent promptly." says W. Janowski from VNJ Construction.

Cameron adds: "We always take care to issue Certificates in-house. We make sure to fax your documents to clients immediately. And if SERVICE isn't enough for you, then you should look at our competitive pricing!"

The agency's goal is complete customer satisfaction from start to finish. All the company's policies come with an agent, and it spends time and money when training its personnel to make sure that they meet all their client's needs. It provides competitive premiums, and gives helpful advice to clients on a wide range of insurance and financial issues. Over the years, it has also been putting a lot of effort upgrading that information technology. "We don't want to be left behind", says Cameron. "Not with all the information going full swing on the internet and everywhere else."
