Irwindale, California: Perfect Hair Focus, the Irwindale, California based supplier of hair serum and hair growth shampoo and conditioner, has highlighted the possibility of sweet almond oil improving hair health as a part of their latest campaign on promoting natural haircare trends in the industry.

Long revered by the French for its healing properties, sweet almond oil is gaining traction as an ingredient in hair care as well as skin care products. According to the spokesperson at Perfect Hair Focus, Allen Farrar, "It has long been a secret of the French to use sweet almond oil as an essential part of their daily skin moisturizing routine. However, research has shown that sweet almond oil, has long been prescribed as a natural hair product in the Chinese and Ayurvedic schools of medicine due to their high antioxidants content. It is often used as an ingredient in coconut oil hair serum formulas."

Sweet almond oil adds a natural shine to hair due to its high concentration of proteins and vitamins A, B and E. It also reflects UV rays because of its fatty acids omega 9, 6 and 3 content levels. These ingredients can help keep the hair strong and healthy while reducing the likelihood of hair breakage. Furthermore, it acts as a natural sealant by locking in moisture when applied to the roots of the hair. This helps prevent hair dandruff by ensuring that the scalp remains clean and moisturized.

Utilizing the properties of sweet almond oil, Perfect Hair Focus has developed a new formula for a natural hair serum that contains ingredients such as sweet almond oil, organic coconut oil, jojoba oil among others to create a hair care product that makes dry and unmanageable frizzy hair to smooth and silky tresses. This product can be found in Perfect Hair Focus's official storefront at the Amazon Marketplace as well as their official website at <http://perfecthair.club/>.
