July 23, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mailers HQ is a business in Newark, NJ, that offers a variety of mailing tools and accessories. They have now announced the launch of their latest product, the bubble out bags. These bubble out poly mailers are perfect for any fragile items and are available in a variety of sizes. Furthermore, Mailers HQ offers special prices for those who purchase in bulk.

A spokesperson for Mailers HQ says: "We are always looking for new and innovative packaging and mailing materials and are so excited to be able to offer a full range of bubble out bags as well. These bags will make sure the products you send out will arrive undamaged at their destination each time. We also offer a variety of incentives for those who want to purchase the mailers in bulk so do contact us to discuss your requirements."

The new bubble pouches are of the highest possible quality. They have been designed to protect and cushion their contents while not needing any tape to keep them in place. According to Mailers HQ, the individual air bubbles have been designed to ensure superior burst strength. They are able to withstand both pressure from the inside of the envelope and abuse from the outside of the mailer. The product inside, meanwhile, is fully protected. The spokesperson continues: "Each mailer is also fitted with a 1" self seal tape lip. This ensures that the product in the mailer won't come out."

The high quality bubble out poly mailers are also designed for sustainability because they are made of 100% recyclable materials. This is important in the world of business as most consumers would prefer purchasing from companies that are committed to protecting the environment. The representative explains: "People want to see that companies are doing their best to protect the environment for future generations. Of course, they also want to make sure that their product is properly protected while in transit and won't compromise on that. Our mailers offer both: sustainability and high quality. And that is why we love them."

The air bubble pouches can be used for a range of items, whether they are fragile or not. Each exterior bubble is 3/16" thick, thereby cushioning the contents while protecting them through its smooth internal texture. Put together, this creates a protective pouch that will keep the item safe at all times. This bag also comes in a range of different sizes so that businesses have the option of using the right envelope size for their product. The spokesperson explains: "Our bubble out bags have excellent air retention, so the bubbles stay inflated to provide continuous protection."

The bubble out bags are available in all standard sizes: #0, #1, #2, #3, #4, #5, #6, and #7. Furthermore, Mailers HQ has indicated that they also offer bulk discounts. Their aim is to help businesses waste less on their shipping and handling in a variety of different ways. Firstly, they want to make sure that businesses have affordable mailers available to choose from. They want to point out that their products are consistently cheaper than others on the market.

Secondly, by offering bulk discounts, the price per mailer drops significantly. Additionally, businesses are encouraged to save even more money by picking up their orders from the Mailers HQ warehouse in Newark, NJ. In so doing, they don't have to pay for shipping and handling themselves. That said, shipping is free for New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Delaware, Rhode Island, Vermont, Maryland, Massachusetts, D.C. and Pennsylvania.

According to the spokesperson: "One final way in which we help our clients save money is more indirect in nature. Because our mailers are of such high quality, we know that there will be a huge reduction, if not downright elimination, in the number of products that are returned because they are damaged while being shipped. Good businesses have return policies in place and getting returns can cost them a lot of money. With our mailers, they are safe with the guarantee that their item will arrive at its destination safe and undamaged, leading to a happy customer. This can result not just in significant savings, but also in an increase in profits because more customers are likely to return."

Those interested in the new bubble wrap bags or any of the other products that Mailers HQ offers are encouraged to contact the company as soon as possible. They offer a wide range of mailers, envelopes, and other packing materials. On all items, they have bulk specials so that their customers can have substantial savings, and all items can be picked up as well.
