July 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Jin Liew, spokesperson for the company Quality Invent, has announced that they have now added four unique Mounts in one to their cell phone holder for car kit. The product is currently being sold on their Amazon storefront, and to date, has over eighty positive customer reviews.

Quality Invent said that their Cell Phone Holder is designed to fit all of their customers' needs, because the way one customer mounts their cell phone holder is completely different to that of another. This depends on the type of vehicle they have, the way the dashboard is laid out, and the customer's personal preference; by providing four unique Mounts, the cell phone holder is able to cater to most of those needs.

The four Mounts make it easier for the driver to switch between mounting the device on the windshield, air vent, dashboard and CD slot. Regardless of where it is mounted, the phone will remain secure and safe, and will hold firm even on bumpy rides. One customer wrote the following review on Amazon: "I bought this for my husband. These are his exact words: "this thing is really awesome. It's great! This is exactly what I needed. It works perfectly! Much much better than my old that broke and the cheap replacement I got." Then a few days later, "did I mention that this phone mount is really good?" Two days after that, "This phone mount is really good..."

Jin Liew said that the cell phone holder also has the ability to rotate 360 degrees, which will help the driver get optimal viewing without any difficulty. The device is also designed to be handled with one hand, and is adaptable with various phone brands that have a width range between 2.20 inches to 3.4 inches. The cell phone holder is applicable for smart phones, GPS phone, iPod, PDA, and many others.

Another customer wrote the following review on Amazon: "This smartphone car mount holder fits my iPhone 6 plus perfectly! The cradle grips are rubber and hold the phone in place without slipping even on rough roads. There is a release button on the back to easily remove the phone...This mount uses suction to secure it to either the dash or the windshield. It also comes with an adapter disc with double stick install tape in case your dashboard has a rough surface. The cradle can be adjusted 360 degrees in many different angles and will fit just about any smartphone size. I definitely recommend this car mount holder!! This item was received as part of a promotion."

Quality Invent have also created the "exclusive advantage program" for their customers. By signing up, shoppers will be able to get free new product launches, and the company will also be sending special discount coupons and updates. Click here to join the 'Exclusive Advantage Program'.

Jin Liew said that they are confident that customers will love their car cell phone holders, and to back this up, they are offering a 60 days, no questions asked money back guarantee to those who are not completely satisfied with their purchase.
