Apex Photography Source, an established and respected expert photography company, is proud to announce that they have now opened a location in Houston. The company is led by a team of stars and all of photographers have been vetted and screened to ensure that each one meets the incredibly high standards of the business. Indeed, they only use the best in the industry to ensure that clients will always receive the best memories that money can buy.

Blair Hilsher from Apex Photography Source says: "Apex Photography Source is your source for top-rated professional service when it comes to photography. We offer a diverse array of artists with specializations in various styles of photography. We've been providing residents and businesses with expert photography services for more than a decade, and our work has seen broad use across many commercial and freelance areas of business."

The said photography business prides itself on only using state of the art equipment. They are also always on the lookout for new technology, thereby ensuring that every moment is captured perfectly for their clients. Their current equipment allow them to take a 360 video, live stream event footage, and get a high rank for the special day on Google for years to come, and more.

"We take pride in providing photography which demands attention, given our mindfulness for details ranging from image lighting techniques to the shoot location to editing and more," continues Blair Hilsher. "Having said that, we know that paying proper attention to the personality of our clients usually results in the most in-tune photos."

By opening a location in Houston, the company is able to reach even more clients. They are happy to travel to distances of up to 50 miles, as well as offering a digital studio inside the city itself. Those outside of the company's service radius may also contact them to find out what other solutions are available, as they are happy to accommodate people from places such as Sealy, Galveston, and Columbus. Because Houston has two primary airports, their photographers are also able to reach other destinations.

The Houston photographers of Apex Photography Source have an excellent reputation. Those who have used their services in the past have been incredibly happy with their experience. Sara C., for instance, says on the company's Google Maps page: "Used Apex Photography Source as my wedding photographer. Blair was incredibly accommodating. He was always prompt, and went above and beyond to make our day a special one. I can't tell you how happy we are with the results. If you are getting married and need bridal photos or wedding photos in Houston, I highly recommend them."

Apex Photography Source also prides itself on offering a variety of specialized photo services. They include boudoir photography, engagement photos, top rated wedding photography, maternity photography, newborn photography, individual head shots, a range of special projects, lifestyle business portraits, social media series, food photography, general photography, branding and product photography, and videography. Blair Hilsher continues: "Our studio comes equipped with various professional backgrounds, customized workstations for digital editing, and commercial-grade lighting and equipment. We provide complimentary clothing consultations, and we can help in making makeup and hair salon services available to you when requested."

People in the Houston area are encouraged to contact Apex Photography Source for any of their photography needs. The company uses freelance photographers, each of which has had to go through an extensive screening process to ensure that they use the highest quality and most technologically advanced tools and equipment, while also being the best photographers in the business. In so doing, the company is able to guarantee customer satisfaction. Blair Hilsher says: "We are distinguished by our storyteller's eye for detail and unique, cinematic approach. There is one basic truth that has always inspired us: the greatest moments in life are those that are defined not just by their subject but by the effect they have on others sharing them as well. The passion we have for photography's power to capture the honest emotion that is expressed in the events of our clients is clear from your initial meeting with us as well as each time you visit our studio."

Offering professional photography, the company aims to help people capture those most special moments, and also transform their lives. Through their head shots, for instance, they can help individuals close a deal, market themselves, control their personal branding, position themselves as experts in their field, get new deals, make their first impression stand out from the crowd, and more. The company website shows an extensive portfolio of works completed in the past, showcasing the variety of tools and techniques they offer, as well as demonstrating the different types of services that they are able to provide.
