Prince William County Virginia Roofing Company Receives Glowing Review

August 08, 2018

Fairfax, Virginia - August 08, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Roof.net, a roofing contractor in Fairfax, VA, is proud to announce that they have received a new five star review from a happy customer. To show their appreciation, they have turned the review into a showcase video, which went live on August 4, 2018. The video can be viewed at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=j778pt6D7zM>.

In the review, customer David M. states that he and his family were extremely happy with the roofing service done for their home in Prince William County, VA, one of the areas covered by Roof.net. Thus, they wanted to tell others about their experience. David says: "Excellent service! It is so refreshing to work with an honest contractor who cares about doing the job right. If I have any roofing issues in the future I know who to call. Thanks again!"

In his review, David is able to observe some of the key priorities of the company. These are to offer an excellent service to all customers, be reliable, and be open and honest about the work that needs doing. Their professionalism and attention to detail have not gone unnoticed and they company is one of the highest rated of its kind in the area.

Prince William County is an area with significantly high levels of precipitation, both of rain and of snow. Additionally, it has a humid subtropical climate, which means humidity rises significantly in the summer and thunderstorms are frequent. Recently, those storms seem to have intensified, leading to microbursts, which are incredibly strong downdraft winds that cause a substantial amount of damage, particularly to roofs.

All of the above issues have an impact on the structural integrity of roofs. Serving as a solution for these potential damages, Roof.net offers both roof repairs and roof maintenance, helping people to ensure that they do not experience too much damage. Indeed, maintenance should be done on a yearly basis in order to prevent water damage because of leaks. This is particularly true due to the fact that so many people have asphalt shingle roofs. These have a lifespan of about two decades but often break down much sooner because people do not maintain them properly. A roof replacement is a very costly undertaking and Roof.net, therefore, recommends that people sign up for maintenance packages.

Scientists have demonstrated that climate change also has a serious impact on roofs. Because the rain in Prince William County is now more driving and pelting, in addition to the heavy and frequent thunderstorms, damage to roof shingles is quite common. Roof.net regularly attends properties with punctured and torn shingles, seen most commonly around the edges of the roof itself. This allows water to enter the structure of the home itself, leading to even greater damage.

Roof.net prides itself on being honest and open about all the work that they do and on providing customers with the knowledge required to make informed decisions about what their roof needs. It is for that reason that their website at <http://roof.net/repair/prince-william-county/>, includes a lot of information on roof problems, the local climate, signs of damage, and more.

People are encouraged to look into the roof maintenance programs that Roof.net has available. Those who have used these programs have left highly positive reviews about their experiences, as can be seen from the company's Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/roofrepairva>. A roof maintenance program includes an annual professional inspection, during which time routine maintenance will also be included. Hence, scuppers, downspouts and gutters will all be cleaned and any debris that are found will be removed. Worn or missing flashings will be replaced and the roofing professional will also check whether the chimney mortar is starting to crumble or patch. This professional will also reattach any loose metalwork and make sure that items, such as television antennas and satellite dishes, have been properly installed and continue to be supported properly. Finally, during routine maintenance, gaskets and rubber seals around pipes and dormer windows will be replaced if necessary.

The maintenance contracts offered by Roof.net do not just allow homeowners to avoid costly repairs. They also mean that the property becomes more energy efficient, thereby saving homeowners money on their heating bills. Mainly, it allows homeowners to avoid the damage to the home that can be caused by defective roofs. All Roof.net employees are fully trained and licensed to perform their job and the company enforces the highest possible standards. In so doing, Roof.net also guarantees satisfaction with the quality of their work so people know they can rely on the professionals to do a good job that will protect their roof and their home.
