August 17, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Adam Elements, a leading brand focused in smart electronic products, introduced a small collection of USB-C cables designed for all MacBook, Chromebook Pixel, and other USB-C devices. The collection is comprised of two cables: CASA M100 and CASA B200. To purchase the M100 cable, readers can visit Adam Elements website.

CASA M100 is a USB-C to USB-A 3.0 cable that rapidly charges, transfers and syncs devices. The cable provides a significant connection between USB chargers and computers with USB-A ports and the latest smartphones and tablets with USB-C. CASA M100 cable supports a max 15W (5V, 3A) charging output and a speed data sync of up to 5Gbps.

Due to USB-C's new user-friendly design, users can insert the cable connector the right way. CASA M100, charging and data sync cable, is made up of aluminum caps and a 3.3ft tangle-free, nylon fiber braided cable designed to prevent breakage and bends. It offers users with convenience and functionality as it connects to external devices and peripherals.

Adam Elements cables are built to the highest quality standards so users can rest assured their cables will work in the future. Also, their cables stand out from the crowd as they offer four color options: black, rose gold, red, and gold.

Adam Elements is a company focused on smart accessories for the world's most famous devices. The company provides products for mobile phones, computers, and drones. On-the-go devices, along with intelligent software applications, provide customers with a vast range of products and services.
