July 02, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

X-Shade, located in sunny Miami, Florida, has recently released a car sun shade which effectively blocks the sun's harmful UV rays while in transit. The product, a car sunshade, folding window sun shades 1 piece, is currently being sold on Amazon.com.

As a company that provides child safety and car accessories, X-Shade has long been committed to creating products that give customers a sense of security, as well as products that are useful. Information found on <https://www.facebook.com/pages/X-Shade-Child-Safety-and-Car-Accessories/239658779538583?fref=ts> lists the many benefits of owning car accessories that make traveling safe, comfortable, and easy. A spokesman for X-Shade explains: "Car accessories have gone a long way?before, they were only used to beautify cars, but now, we are creating products that provide comfort and child safety. I'm proud to announce that our car sun shades are made of the best quality to keep our customers comfortable, especially under all this heat!"

To invite more customers to experience the many benefits of their product, X-Shade is offering the car sun shade -- folding window sun shades 1 piece at a discounted rate. For a limited time only, customers will receive a 15% off upon purchase of X-Shade's car sun shade. To qualify, customers are invited to visit

X-Shade's car sun shades are made from 100% high quality materials including polyester and polyester fabric. The product helps block the sun's harmful rays, and is designed to provide protection against UV rays, glare, and heat (UPF 25+). Customers would love its simple DIY feature?it's easy to install, and suitable for a car's side windows. Children, as well as adults, would be able to enjoy its benefits in just a matter of minutes after a simple installation.

Upon review, X-Shade's Amazon ratings for the product have been impressive. The car sun shade currently holds a 4.7 rating out of 5 stars on its Amazon webpage. Linda Perry gave the product a perfect 5-star rating. "This window shade for the car is awesome," Perry wrote on her review. She continued: "It looks like a real inside of the house window shade and works amazingly well. It has a fluid type motion to it, for easy moving. It looks nice on the car and of course, best yet, it blocks the sun out of my kid's eyes. No more having to listen to the whining from the backseat, "Mom I can't see, my eyes hurt" None of that, just silence. This product simply works. Love it!"

As of this writing, X-Shade continues to create car accessories that promote child safety and comfort. Its car sun shades are the company's bestsellers, and they're expected to increase in sales even more, especially with the summer season coming up.
