August 22, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Pensacola, Fla. - A momentous day is coming around the corner; KellyCo, a Pensacola flower shop, is reminding citizens to celebrate this holiday. They want everyone to remember to cherish and love the special women in his or her lives.

Women's Equality Day is on August 26th. It was the day when the U.S. Constitution passed the law to allow women the right to vote. They passed the law in 1878, but it did not become a national holiday until 1971.

This day is meant to honor and recognize all the great women of today's society. They are making a difference in our world. It should never be forgotten; it is a day to remind every individual girl that they are valued. A day to show girls that they are independent; they can change the world if they want to.

This Pensacola florist knows the importance of this holiday. At KellyCo, they have deals and promotions for different sets. These sets are designed for showing appreciation to extraordinary women in everyone's lives.
