SAHE Products has announced with pride that their professional food grade quality nonstick silicone baking sheet is a bestseller in its category. What the company would like to emphasize is that it allows those who love to bake to go green because they no longer have to use parchment paper. One pack contains two pieces of this silicone baking mat with a basting brush added as a bonus. More details can be found at <https://amzn.to/2MSCQw5>.

H. Misra from SAHE Products says: "These baking sheets are designed for those who love to bake at home to have fun in creating delicious cookies, macarons, or even pizza. These are dough-friendly sheets, ensuring that the dough won't stick on them because they are made from professional food grade quality silicone. A basting brush is even included without extra charge."

What H. Misra would also like to point out is that the food will not stick to the silicone baking sheet. Thus, it is easy to clean. It is also microwave, dishwasher, oven and freezer safe. And most of all, it is environment-friendly because no longer will people need to use oils, wax paper, or parchment paper. It is also easy to store because it can be simply rolled up or left flat in the kitchen drawer.

Amazon customer reviews appear to substantiate the above. One customer who gave the baking sheet a five-star rating said: "Don't know why I've been spending money on "Pam" spray all this time. What a time saver for cookies, rolls, etc.... Clean up is so easy. Just wipe off the baking mats and put the cookie sheet away." Another Amazon customer who also gave the product five stars said: "Excellent product which I have already used multiple times. They clean up beautifully. I make my own granola and was always needing to use parchment paper or forever scraping bits of oats from my cookie sheet. This make that job easy. I can just let the granola cool and use the baking mat to load the finished product into jars...."

This baking sheet can be reused several times because it is nonstick and does not absorb odors. SAHE Products has assured that it is BPA free and the silicone is non-toxic food grade. These make it suitable for use in any home kitchen.

Another Amazon customer who gave the product a five-star rating, said: "Not only does the food never burn on the bottom, the clean up is so simple and waste-free. I just spray them off and roll them back up to be put away. The food cooks perfectly with soft, unburnt bottoms. You can see from my pictures there there was no burnt on food sticking to the mats as you would have with pans. Also no need to grease the mats either as you would have to do with pans. No more spending money on parchment paper and creating waste. They even came with a sweet silicone brush to oil and butter your foods. I tested these out to 425 degrees and they looked the same putting in as taking out. They say they are good up to 450 degrees as well. These mats are larger than your regular baking pan, so I just placed them right on the rack in the oven...."

Still another Amazon customer who gave the baking sheet five stars, said: "... These mats come with an awesome bonus brush which is perfect to brushing baked goods (egg worked perfectly with the brush and a quick rinse slides the egg right off, and it's dishwasher safe). The mat fit just right onto our baking sheets and we used them to bake a couple cheese croissants.... The cheese burnt a bit when leaking out but the mat held true to its non-stick name and when the croissants were done baking, the burnt cheese just lifted right off with no mess no stress...."

In summary, this baking sheet is ideal for family baking, the company says. It allows the user to go green because there is no longer any need to use parchment paper. It is non-stick and easy to clean. It is ensured to be free from BPA. It is resistant to stains and odors. It is safe for the oven, microwave, dishwasher and freezer. And most important is that it is covered with a lifetime warranty from SAHE Products.
