

Customer Satisfaction - The Life Blood Of This Magnetic Child Safety Lock Company

June 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Seasoned professionals often point to the fact that when a company puts its customer's interests and satisfaction above its own and decides to take action when constructive criticisms are made, it begins to stand out from the crowd. This appears to be true regarding the child safety company Concepts of Spring. In recent weeks, they have produced brand new, updated installation instructions with a helpful assembly video to boot, which they claim is helping so many new customers to install their Safe and Sound magnetic safety locks onto their cupboard drawers and doors to prevent small babies and children from incurring unnecessary accidents in the home.

Recently, the company produced some interesting facts following a recent investigation into accident prevention. Their report showed that 67000 small babies and children have to be admitted to hospital every year in the USA due to ingesting a poisonous substance and that such tragedies could have been easily prevented if such child safety locks had been fitted to drawers and cabinet doors.

Their flagship product, the Safe and Sound magnetic safety lock is made in the USA to what they describe as being exacting standards and that these locks are considered to be one of the best on the market, preventing even the most determined little fingers from opening them. Conversely, their product information explains that when adults are present and it's safe to have the locks open, a simple disengage feature allows the lock to be switched off - especially when the drawers and cabinets are in frequent use. With their new, improved installation guidelines, fitting these locks appears to be a breeze, giving no reason why cabinet drawers and doors throughout a parent's whole house couldn't have these locks fitted within a relatively short time.

The directors of Concepts of Spring seem to be so grateful for the feedback customers have made, that soon they will be giving away a spare key to those who apply for them. This offer will be appearing soon but in the meantime people can view their Free PDF Report called, "The 7 Top Tips For Child Safety In Your Home".
