

California Picnic Luxury and Charm in a Gardening Set

October 09, 2018

October 09, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

California Picnic is thrilled to announce the release of their newest Garden Tools Set for the holidays. According to Alex Vidal, social media manager at Ca. Picnic's parent company inPicnic, the Backpack features new colors, upgrades and features.

"We are thrilled about the new design of our Garden Tools Set. The new Garden Tools Set now features more accessories and compartments which provides extra practicality and that stands out in any Gift event."

Last years new models sold out very quickly leading up to the holiday season and inPicnic expects the same result this year, especially for the holiday season as they are a very trendy gift items that people love to share with loved ones. According to Charlie Korker head of operations at inPicnic, they are prepared to handle the added demand this holiday season.

?We are expecting great demand which is why we prepared this year with enough stock. We recommend to our customers to purchase early to assure availability.?

The Garden Tools Set is used for flower, vegetable and regular gardening needs around the home. Potential shoppers looking to purchase can visit The Garden Tools Set Amazon.com listing where they can check out photographs and customer reviews to help get a better understanding of the product. Prime members can receive free two-day shipping and non-members are eligible for free shipping on all orders over $50.00.

The Garden Tools Set can also be purchased at inpicnic.com, To learn more about inPicnic Brand Family, readers can visit the website.
