11-Sept-2018, McLean VA - Roofer 911 and Steven Briesemeister are pleased to announce that they have released a recently acquired new review and showcase video. Interested viewers can access the review at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NtXwcTL4AnE>.

The company has an excellent review ranking currently at 4.9 out of 5.0 possible. Over 220 reviews have been posted to date on the website. In addition, there are other reviews posted on directories and social media sites. When the McLean roofing company receives glowing testimonial and showcase video from happy customer, it is proud to post the review. This homeowner was extremely happy with the roofing repair in Fairfax, VA service that they received and wanted to share their experience. The publication date of the customer review video was September 6, 2018.

According to the homeowner, "Very professional. Came out quickly and assessed a leak we had several other companies look at and one even claimed to fix. Provided a low cost solution to evaluate the gutters and will update if resolves leak."

Although the company does many roof repairs, there comes a time in the life of each roof when repairs no longer provide protection and revival. When the roof deteriorates beyond fixing, a high quality replacement roof is necessary. Roof replacement is a step that secures any investments which have already been made to maintain and beautify the home. A good watertight roof prevents the rest of the structure from falling to pieces, literally.

If the insurance company will be involved in the cost of the roof installation or repair, the process of payment can get complicated. Insurance claims are part of the process when there is a severe weather event or other natural disaster.
