October 22, 2018 -

A DUI lawyer in Toronto, Canada, has announced that new information has been posted on his website regarding charges involving DUI in Canada. The attorney states that most people are not aware of all of the information available with regards to driving under the influence and states that his firm has a website that is dedicated to making this information available to the public.

"If you have been arrested for DUI," says the Toronto attorney, "You need to know what you are facing. You need to know your rights and what to expect regarding your case, the trial, and the potential consequences of being convicted."

The attorney says that most people are unaware of where to find this information and that it can be critical when fighting charges related to driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol. He states that being convicted of these charges could have long term legal implications, even for those who are accused for the first time. He goes on to say that immediate action is necessary in order to protect the accused.

"You don't want to wait until you feel you have everything in order to contact an attorney," the Toronto lawyer says. "In fact, you don't even want to wait until you are back home from jail. Your first phone call should be to an experience DUI attorney who will immediately begin working on your case and give you a better chance at getting the case dismissed."

The DUI lawyer Toronto residents can go to says that many do not know how crucial it is to begin working on these types of cases right away. He says that there are many factors to consider when defending a DUI case and that time is of the essence in order to be successful. The consequences of being convicted of driving under the influence can include driver's license revocation, jail time, legal punishments, probation, fines and other long term effects.

A common defence strategy for charges involving driving under the influence in Canada is charter rights infringement. The Toronto attorney says that in cases such as this, immediate action is needed in order to get everything together and ready to present to court. In cases such as this, the first step should be finding a defence strategy that would work and that this can often take some time depending on the individual circumstances of the case. He says that because of this, the accused must contact a knowledgeable and experienced attorney as quickly as possible after being charged with driving under the influence.

The firm states that they strive to provide people with information that they will need if they ever face such charges. They state that many have no idea of the number of consequences that being convicted of a DUI can bring and that their goal with their website is to offer some general information to people so that they can better understand the charges, convictions and defences related to these scenarios.

The Toronto attorney says that there are a number of successful defence strategies that can be taken but reiterates that time is of the essence in any DUI case. He states that challenging blood alcohol level results or the legality of a DUI checkpoint are defence strategies that can be successful, provided they are started in time. The attorney says that the very first step in overcoming any charge related to driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol is to contact an educated and experienced DUI attorney. He states that this is the only way that the accused can stand a reasonable chance of seeing those DUI charges dismissed.

The attorney states that a proper DUI defence can only be worked out by an attorney who possesses the required skills, expertise and experience in the field needed for such cases. The attorney states that those who are interested in a consultation should contact their firm immediately after being charged in order to see the best possible outcome of each case. The firm's website offers information related to driving under the influence including lists of possible conviction consequences, statistics and other information that the firm states is crucial for people to know whether or not they have ever been convicted of a DUI. Those who are interested can read more on the topic of DUIs in Canada by visiting the firm's official website. Information about how to contact the DUI attorney can also be found on the site, as well as information on various other charges that they can help in the defence of the accused.
