Keeping up with their growing popularity and success of their unique and innovative products, the British Colombia based Canadian company, Adfilic, has now announced the launch of their Expandable Garden Hose in two colors. The electronics and accessory company which started out as a small business on Amazon has now developed into a larger company with a variety of products ranging from power banks to pen-cameras.

One of the persisting inconveniences faced by users of traditional rubber or plastic water hoses is that they tend to tangle easily, form kinks and damage easily which eventually causes leakages. These properties make the typical rubber hose more of a liability than an accessory for customers, who wish for a durable, flexible and non-tangle hose. Expandable hoses allow the pipe to collapse when void of water, and expand to several times their length with water pressure in it. Adfilic's Expandable Garden Hose differ from the other hoses in that they do not use dense rubber as their primary materials; instead a light, collapsible and expandable latex is employed. When in use, the hose can expand up to three times its original length and retracts when water has stopped flowing through it.

The use of latex has the benefit of being highly durable and elastic in nature which allows the user to easily manipulate it in any fashion without fear of causing damage to its structure. Customers have reported that even while the hose may be twisted or knotted, it still manages to maintain an unrestricted water flow. The Expandable Hose is also covered with an elastic polyester webbing for protection and additional durability. Despite its lightweight, the hose has a high strength to weight ratio. The integrity of the pipe is provided by the water pressure in hose, which in turn eliminates the problem of kinks in the pipe as the pressure throughout the pipe remains constant. Customers who find carrying the significant weight of a hose tiresome are greatly appreciative of the lightweight material and structure of the Adfilic Garden Hose. They also find it easier to store the expandable hose in small spaces, despite its 50ft length.

Adfilic is also providing a special offer to those purchasing the expandable hose by giving 8 different spray pattern style nozzles for the hose as well as a corrosion resistant brass connector. The company has received a perfect 5 out of 5 rating for their Expandable Hose, in spite of having the item on the market for less than a month. With a life time money back guarantee offered for their hose, Adfilic has garnered significant confidence and satisfaction of their customers. Laying emphasis on customer service, Adfilic maintains open lines for assisting the customers with the installation of the electronics and to answer any queries.
