October 11, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Fresno Roofing Pros, a roofing contractor in Fresno, California, has announced that they are now offering commercial roofing services to customers. The company states that they will be providing commercial roofing installation as well as repair services for businesses in the area.

Ranvir Mahadew, a spokesperson for the company, says, "We can take care of your commercial roof no matter how big or small. We take on jobs of all sizes and can repair your existing roof or install a brand new one on your existing building or new construction."

Mahadew says that the company offers fair pricing on Fresno commercial roof installations and states that they also provide routine maintenance for commercial roofing. He says that no matter what commercial roofing services are needed, the company can provide them.

"Keep us in mind for those roofing emergencies as well," says Mahadew. "Emergencies never happen during the day. A roofing emergency could happen at any time of the day or night, even on weekends or holidays. When you have a leak or other emergency, you need it taken care of right away. We are always here for you."

The company states that they provide cost free quotes for customers for their commercial roofing repairs and services. Mahadew says that when a commercial customer contacts them, they will send out a qualified and experienced roofing technician to survey the problem and provide a quote for the services that are needed. The company states that they also have a list of frequently asked questions on their website that can help customers to better understand their roofing issues and what they can do about them.

Reviews on the company's website from various commercial customers state that they are all very pleased with the services that they have been provided. Customers state that the company had their repairs done quickly and that they provided expert services throughout each project.

Mahadew says that customer reviews are very important to them and states that they fully appreciate all of the positivity that their customers have shared with others about their services. He states that their website offers a number of reviews from past customers and gives an overview of their service areas as well as more information on what to look for when hiring a roofing contractor.

Mahadew states that they are fully licensed, which is an important factor when choosing a roofing contractor, particularly for larger commercial projects. State law in California says that all roofers should be licensed in the roofing profession before they will be permitted to legally provide roofing services. He says that Fresno Roofing Pros is fully licensed and prepared to show that licensure to put customers' minds at ease.

The company states that they are also fully insured to protect customers from any damages that could potentially occur as well as to protect their own workers and staff. Contractors are required to have workers compensation insurance and Fresno Roofing Pros states that all of their insurance is valid and kept up to date in order to keep their staff safe when working on any commercial roofing job.

The roofing company states that a good reputation is the best thing to consider when hiring a roofing contractor. A company with a bad reputation is not likely to do a good job. Mahadew states that the reputation of Fresno Roofing Pros supersedes them. He states that they have a number of positive reviews from past customers and that they have an excellent standing with the Better Business Bureau. He says that any customer who wants to know more about the company's reputation can simply Google their name and they will find a number of positive remarks.

Finally, Fresno Roofing Pros says that they offer fair pricing on installation and roof maintenance services for all of their commercial clients. The company states that they offer a good value for the cost and back up that value with warranties and guarantees to further put their customers' minds at ease when choosing their services. The company states that they use only the highest quality of roofing materials and can speak with customers about various energy efficient roofing materials and other ways to help them cut their energy costs. Studies have shown that more and more companies are looking to save money on their energy costs by using energy efficient roofing materials. The company states that any business that would like more information on going green with their roofs can contact them for more information and to schedule an onsite estimate.
