California Picnic Announces The Release Of Their Newest Picnic Basket Set

October 04, 2018

October 04, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

California Picnic is thrilled to announce the release of their newest Picnic Basket Set for the holidays. According to Alex Vidal, social media manager at Ca. Picnic's parent company inPicnic, the Basket features new upgrades and features.

"We are really excited about the new upgrades now available on our Picnic Baskets. The new basket now features more accessories and compartments which provides extra practicality and that stands out in in any Gift event," says a company representative.

Last years new models sold out very quickly leading up to the holiday season and inPicnic expects the same result this year, especially for the holiday season as they are a very trendy gift item that people love to share with loved ones. According to Charlie Korker head of operations at inPicnic, they are prepared to handle buyer's demand this holiday season.

"We are expecting great demand which is why we prepared this year with enough stock. We recommend to our customers to purchase early and not wait until last minute," continued Korker.

The Picnic Basket is used during family outings, couples dates and corporate events. Potential shoppers looking to purchase can visit the the Picnic Basket Set Amazon.com listing where they can check out photographs and customer reviews to help get a better understanding of the product. Prime members can receive free two-day shipping and non-members are eligible for free shipping on all orders over $50.00.

The Picnic Basket Set can also be purchased at inpicnic.com, To learn more about inPicnic Brand Family, readers can visit the website.
