Natures Harvest Health Food Store has announced that they are now an authorized XP Labs dealer. The store, whose headquarters are located in North Bay, Ontario, Canada, recently announced that they will now be offering their customers products from XP Labs.

Serge Hotte, a representative for the company, says, "We are pleased to make this announcement. We believe that this will be a wonderful partnership of our products with XP Labs health food supplements and we are excited to bring these products to our customers."

XL Labs provides ISO XP, which is a high quality whey protein isolate. Hotte explains that the supplement is filled with amino acids, probiotics and wholesome nutrition and made from grass fed all natural New Zealand whey. The supplement provides protein supplementation that is designed to help with muscle growth, hormone regulation, fat loss and cellular health.

"Studies conclusively show that whey isolate is a healthy and easy to digest way to get the protein that you need on a daily basis," says Hotte. "This protein supplement is great for those of you who are trying to focus on a high protein, low carb diet and who want to build muscle and eliminate fat."

Hotte says that the supplement from XP Labs will go nicely with the Natures Harvest health food supplements that the company already offers. He states that it is the perfect choice for those who are looking to get the best sports nutrition, such as bodybuilders and athletes. Hotte stays that the protein supplement is also good for senior citizens who may not be getting enough protein in their daily diets, as well as hikers and those who workout on a daily basis. Protein is essential in helping to build muscle and avoid losing muscle when working out. Hotte says that the supplement is good for helping those working out to avoid losing the muscle that they are trying to build.

ISO XP is a popular nutritional supplement among professional athletes as well as dietitians and nutritionists, coaches and trainers and other fitness enthusiasts. Hotte says that the brand itself is synonymous with high quality and states that the protein supplement is made from only the highest quality of ingredients. He says that the process of creating the supplement includes cold processing whey isolate so users know that they are getting the most natural whey supplement possible.

He states that the manufacturer of the supplement uses Lactospore probiotics to boost digestive health and the immune system, making the supplement a good choice for anyone who suffers from regular digestive issues or who cannot generally take whey or protein supplements because of digestive issues. The whey supplement is designed to support the entire body with amino acids and high concentrations of protein. Hotte says that added to that is the creamy smooth flavour of ISO XP and it's also a great choice for anyone who is looking to lose weight, build muscle or generally supplement their protein intake on a daily basis. Hotte says that the product is also free from GMOs and hormones, making it safer than other similar items on the market.

This is one of the reasons that the company chose to work with the supplement manufacturer XP Labs. Hotte says that they want to provide their customers with products that help them to get the bodies that they want, but only in the safest possible way. The supplement does not contain rBGH, a growth hormone, and Hotte says that there is nothing unnatural in the supplement at all, which is the main reason that the company chose to feature it.

Natures Harvest Health Food Store states that they are all pleased to now be considered an authorized seller of products from XP Labs. They state that their protein supplement is just the first of many products that they plan to offer from the manufacturer in the future. Natures Harvest Health Food Store offers only quality and natural products for their customers, many of which are designed to help with workouts, supplementation and other health related issues. The company states that their goal is to be a one stop shop for customers on their quest to a healthier lifestyle. They currently offer a number of health supplements and other similar products that are designed to help customers with working out, building muscle, losing weight and other healthy lifestyle related topics.
