October 18, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

VENTURE 4TH® has announced the launch of new color variations for one of their top selling products. The company has recently announced the launch of new colors of their quick dry travel towel, which is available for sale on their official website and on their Amazon page. The company states that the towel is now available in nine different colors and three different sizes.

Patricia Wright, a spokesperson for the company says, "These little towels are great for saving space and they are very versatile. You can use them for working out, for taking along on camping trips, for the beach, literally whatever you need them for. And they're available in a number of great color variations."

Wright says that the travel towel can be purchased in a variety of color combinations, the three newest being orange with gray trim, navy blue with gray trim and gray with pink trim; the towels are available at their Amazon store with a 25 percent discount. Just use the discount code "FASTDRYING" at check out. She says that the new travel towel is lightweight and compact, which makes it more convenient than traditional workout towels. She says that it is also quick to dry so it is the perfect gym towel. The thin towel is designed to be ultra absorbent and dries quickly without taking up too much space.

"When you unpack, you won't have a lot of wet clothing or a wet towel waiting on you," Wright says, "It can be so frustrating to have to wait on your towel to dry before you pack up camp or arriving home and having everything smell musty because of your towels. You won't have that problem with our new little travel towel and it really is a lightweight towel that is easy to pack."

Wright says that those who are interested can visit the company online or on their official Amazon seller's page in order to read a beach towel review. She says that it is a microfiber towel and studies show that microfiber towels dry up to four times more quickly than regular bath or beach towels. Wright says that not only does the towel itself dry quickly, it dries the body quickly, as well. She says that the lightweight and compact design allows it to be folded down to the size of a tablet for packing and it is designed to stay clean and smell fresh for longer periods of time than traditional yoga towels or beach towels.

VENTURE 4TH ® is a sporting goods type company that provides products to those who wish to reconnect with nature. The company recently released a new sleeping bag in a unique design that is meant for sheer comfort. Wright says that their new compact towel is definitely not the last of the products that they plan to release to their customers in the near future. She says that the company is dedicated to providing customers with products that will help them to make memorable moments in their lives.

All of their products are tested thoroughly for outdoor and indoor use and designed with the highest quality of materials possible, according to Wright.

The company offers a number of products that help campers, backpackers and other activity enthusiasts to enjoy their time with no worries of shoddy products. The company says that they are dedicated to offering only the highest possible quality of tools and accessories for indoor and outdoor use. They offer a variety of RFID safe passport pouches, money belts and sleeping pads, among other products. Wright says that their new travel towel is designed, just like the rest of their product offerings, to be convenient, easy to use and even easier to pack and go. The company says that they have an official Facebook page where those interested can learn more about them, connect with other customers and get up to date information on any new products that they are planning to launch in the near future.

Those interested in learning more can do so on the Facebook page or visit VENTURE 4TH ® on their official website or their Amazon seller's page. More product information about the new towel, as well as the other products that they offer can be seen on those pages, as well.

Wright says that the company pays very strict attention to the quality of all of the products that they offer and urges customers to contact them with any questions about that quality or about any of the products that they offer for sale. Those who want to learn more can do so on the company's website, where a comprehensive look at all of their indoor and outdoor sports related products can be done.
