

Lexington KY Bat Removal Company Adds New Company Certifications

October 15, 2018

Lexington, Kentucky - October 15, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Steven Johnson from Wildlife Removal Pros in Lexington, Kentucky was honored with a certification for Ridge-Guard® installation for successful completion of the Elite 2018 Ridge-Guard® certification course.

The Ridge-Guard® certification class is essential to honor the lifetime warranty that is provided by Ridge-Guard® for the entry of bats, birds, and nuisance wildlife. According to the website, RIDGE-GUARD® has a lifetime product replacement warranty against entry against Bats, Mice, Squirrels, and Snakes entering through the product for the life of the roof shingle that is on the home at the time of install.

In his duties as the owner, Steven Johnson has shown company excellence by taking several company certification courses offered by the Wildlife Removal Elite network to elevate the level of services that Wildlife Removal Pros provides. These courses include Richard Hodges Metalworking 101 and Advanced Metalworking Certifications, Bird Barrier Certification, and a Precision Shooting in Critical Situations Certification for nuisance animals that can not be trapped.

Wildlife Removal Pros has added the Ridge-Guard® Certification because it believes the most important element in its business after trapping nuisance wildlife is making sure that the homes are fully secured from future animals making an entrance into the home. Speaking with Steven he has this to say on the subject: "Typically when an animal in the attic is removed, the smell and odors that are left behind are extremely attractive to new animals wanting to move into the now vacant den site. When a home is properly sealed with wildlife proof materials, nuisance animals will move to another home that is easier to gain access to."

James Catchings, Ridge-Guard® Certified Instructor for the Wildlife Removal Elite Network said: "It was an honor to have Steven take the course. This material is truly revolutionary in making sure that common construction gaps in homes are sealed up. Ridge Vents on homes are built with flaws that easily allow bats and other wildlife into the attic of homes without even needing to claw or chew their way in. Having this product to offer gives homeowners a complete home seal up from animal entry."

After the award ceremony and product giveaway, Steven was the winner of a box of Xclusion Pro? attic vent wildlife proofing products made by Ridge-Guard®. When speaking with another member of the Wildlife Removal Elite network, they had this to say about Steven "Steven Johnson displays exactly what we stand for at the Wildlife Removal Elite network...excellent work ethic and integrity. We're especially proud of Steven Johnson for that. He's a very deserving product giveaway winner."
