July 08, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mike, spokesperson for SMM GROUP, LLC, has announced that their newly improved Grill Heat Aid Oven Mitts can help in drastically reducing the risks of burn related incidents at home. The company said that over the last year, more than 450,000 Americans had suffered some type of burn related incident at home, and that in most cases, could have been prevented by simply using high-quality Oven Mitts. SMM GROUP, LLC is currently selling their Grill Heat Aid Oven Mitts on Amazon, which come in two sizes: One Size and Lady Small Size.

Mike made the following statement: "We are not talking about any old oven mitts. In many cases, some of the older style oven mitts can actually be just as hazardous because they make the wearer clumsier. This is especially true with gloves that don't have individual fingers. Because there is less control over each individual finger, there's a high likelihood that someone can drop a hot item, which could turn into a very nasty outcome."

SMM GROUP, LLC said that their Grill Heat Aid oven gloves are EN407 certified, thick but lightweight, and very flexible. This allows customers to have full control over their hands when handling hot items, and they can do so feeling confident that they won't get burnt. The oven mitts can also be used over open flames. "Because our gloves are so comfortable to use, there is less chance of people avoiding them like they would with other traditional gloves. This simple act can greatly reduce the amount of burn related incidents a person experiences, because they will more than likely rather put on those gloves then try to handle hot items without them," added Sahan Asad.

Currently, the Grill Heat Aid Oven Mitts have received over 1200 positive customer reviews on Amazon. One customer wrote the following review: "These are for our woodstove. It's a small, hightech thing with a catalytic converter that gets it up to 500 or more on the outside, and twice that inside. Heats the whole house. The gloves turn out to be perfect for that purpose. The first thing I did was to reach in and wipe the glass window from the inside, using the gloves and nothing else. The stove read 400 at the time, and I wiped off dust and ash with no discomfort and no harm to the gloves (or the glass)."

SMM GROUP said that another way their gloves helps to reduce burn related incidents is through the silicone strips that are located on the palm and back of the hand on the mitts. The strips prevent slippage from occurring, and so they can also be used to hold large bowls with hot soup.

To show customers how much confidence they have in their oven mitts, SMM GROUP, LLC is offering all customers a 100% money back guarantee and lifetime free replacement policy. For those who would like more information on the grill heat aid oven mitts, please visit the company's Amazon storefront.
