October 24, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, has announced that they were recently featured on the A And Z Homes magazine website. The article, written by Brian Elijah, showcased things that home and business owners should consider when they are hiring a heating and air conditioning company and mentions that Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning is among the best in Toronto for what they do.

Ron Potter, a representative for the company says, "We at Laird and Son are pleased to have been featured in the article. We always strive to be the best of the best and to provide our customers with the quality of services that they have come to expect from us over the years."

Potter says that the company offers a wide range of heating and air conditioning services, including furnace repairs in the Toronto area. He says from installing new units to installing full duct systems and more, they always strive to provide the very best to their customers.

"Our furnace repair services are essential before winter arrives," says Potter. "You want to know that you are ready for colder weather by having your furnace inspected to ensure that it is working properly and if there is an issue, you definitely want to have that issue fixed before that cold weather gets here. We offer furnace repair services near you that are dependable and professional."

Potter says that the company offers emergency services for furnace repairs as well, and that they offer a wide range of boilers and tankless water heaters, as well as indirect water heaters that use hot water from a boiler to heat water for the home. The company can install those and other systems, depending on the homeowners' needs.

Potter states that their attention to detail and the wide range of products and services that they offer are reasons that they were featured in the above referenced article. He states that being called out as one of the best in the region is an honor to the entire staff and that they will continue to provide the same quality service to clients in the future.

In the article, the author offers tips on how to choose a furnace repair service. He states that one way of weeding out some companies is to ensure that the furnace repair company chosen is fully licensed and insured and a member of the Better Business Bureau. In the article, the author goes on to say that insurance is a must so that any unexpected damage to the home is covered and states that the best companies, like Laird & Son, have licenses and insurance so their customers never have to deal with these issues.

Potter says that choosing a furnace repair company is not something to be taken lightly and that home and business owners should take the time to research companies before selecting them. Reading through a number of positive reviews from those companies can help the customer to determine which particular company might be the best choice. Potter goes on to say that there are a number of positive customer reviews for Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning and that anyone who would like to read through some of these reviews can do so on the company's official website or on any number of online review sites.

Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning has been serving the Toronto area for a number of years. The company states that they only employ the most talented and professional technicians and states that they are always available for emergencies that may happen outside of normal business hours. Potter says that they know that boiler or furnace emergencies rarely happen during banker's hours so they offer around the clock services to keep heating and air conditioning systems running smoothly at all times. He states that anyone who is currently having issues with their heating or cooling system should contact the company as soon as possible to get those issues taken care of before the colder weather arrives.

Those who are interested in learning more about Laird & Son can do so on their official website or any of their social media pages. The article that features the Toronto company can be seen on the A and Z Homes website and those in the Toronto area who have questions or would like to schedule any heating or cooling installation or service can contact the company directly to do so. Contact information for the company can also be found on their website.
