

Volume And Bass Launches New Website For Their Top Rated Bluetooth Wireless Speakers

July 28, 2015

July 28, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Huy Nguyen, spokesperson for the company Volume and Bass, is pleased to announce that they have just launched their new website. In celebration of this launch, the company is offering a limited time $20 off promotion. In order to get the promotion, shoppers need to type in the following promo code: WEB20OFF, which can be used on their Best Wireless Speakers Bluetooth product currently sold on Amazon.

Huy Nguyen said that they are very excited with their latest website launch because they can now provide their customers with an excellent environment where they can learn more about their product, "The Anywhere Speaker". Here, shoppers will be able to view their Bluetooth wireless speakers, read reviews and get more details on the full features of the product. There is also a dedicated gallery that showcases The Anywhere Speaker.

Currently, there are nine positive reviews written on The Anywhere Speaker from Volume and Base, which can all be viewed on the company's website directly. "While we know all of the features and reviews can be found through our Amazon store, we also encourage shoppers to visit our website directly. This allows the shoppers to have a "quieter environment" while learning about our product and why we consider it to be the best wireless speakers Bluetooth on the market," said Huy Nguyen.

Volume and Bass also urges all shoppers to interact with them through their Facebook page. The company said that they are constantly posting updates on their products, so it is a good platform to get the latest information, such as coupon codes and more.

The Anywhere Speaker is designed with 360 degree sound and comes with a free travel pouch. The speakers contain a 2 x 5W full range enhanced bass resonator, and customers can expect 12 hours playtime of high-definition sound, which is possible through the built in 2000mAh Li-Ion Rechargeable Battery. The speakers can connect to Apple and Android devices, and they are compatible with all Bluetooth enabled devices such as laptops, smart phones, MP3 and DVD players, pads and desktops.

The company said that through their latest website, all of these features can be obtained, making it easier for shoppers to come up with a better informed decision. They added that by including the customer reviews on the website as well, browsing to the various pages is easier, and allows them to focus on each area instead of being distracted. An example of one of the customer reviews that have been added to the website is as follows: "This is the best portable speaker I have ever had. This thing is sweet! It's about the size of a tall beer can but the sound is awesome! It really fills up the room and the volume it produces is better than I have seen..." Ranjeev A Maharaj - 5 Stars.

For those who would like more information on the company, please visit their website directly or go to their Facebook page, which is located at the following URL: <https://www.facebook.com/volumeandbassanywhere>. Shoppers are also urged to go to the company's Amazon store to get the full details on the features of their product, "The Anywhere Speaker".
