SEO Montreal agencies are an imperative part of integrating smart marketing strategies for any business in any industry. Jonathan Loïselle is happy to announce that he is starting his own SEO agency in the heart of Montreal.

When asked about this announcement, he had this to say, "SEO is crucial to being visible online to your prospective customers and clients. It does not matter what industry you are in, people are going to be looking for you online to confirm legitimacy and credibility. If you aren't there and ranking well, you simply won't get the business. I have been doing this for many years with other agencies and have finally decided to branch out on my own. I look forward to helping you corner your market."

Consumers take to Google, Bing, and Yahoo when looking for a solution to their problem. If a business wants to be that solution, they need to be visible and they need to rank well. Search engines rank businesses higher when they see searchers consistently choosing a website and staying on it.

This is where SEO is essential. SEO will tell the search engines that a business or website should be a candidate for a search query. From there, the searcher will either leave the site or stay on and browse, searching for their answer. When the searcher stays, the website will rank higher. SEO Montreal agencies will all focus on the digital marketing. But the first step, as offered by Jonathan Loiselle, is SEO. Learn more here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HpZ4czcf0y8>.

Miriam Bank, a small baker in Montreal, was one of Jonathan's first clients at his first agency. This is what she shared about her experience with Jonathan, "I had no idea how important SEO was. I thought that you just needed to be online, kind of like you just needed to be in the Yellow Pages. Jonathan explained everything to me in a way that a person who isn't savvy in technology could understand. Still, I didn't understand enough to try and implement it myself and he was able to help with that. A few months later, Jonathan showed me that my website was ranking higher, but I didn't need him to tell me that. I had started getting more phone calls for orders and more walk-in customers than I could handle. I had to hire a second baker! I still work with Jonathan to this day and he always makes sure my website is on the up-and-up."

Jonathan Loiselle has been in digital marketing since 2010. He made a habit of studying how search trends change and also how search engine algorithms change. He said that has been a key part of his success with SEO. "Sadly, it isn't good enough just to implement SEO and call it a day. The rules for ranking are always changing and the way that consumers are searching changes every few months. With the integration of voice searches with programs like Siri and Alexa, it is even more challenging. It is increasingly important to get an SEO agency that keeps up with the trends."

Choosing an SEO Montreal agency does not have to be a stressful task. Businesses looking to increase their ranking and become more visible in Montreal should look for an agency that has an impressive track record. They should offer valuable consulting and be able to explain their strategy in a way that business owners can understand. Jonathan Loiselle is that agency.

Garrett Bloom, a car dealer in Montreal, had this experience with Jonathan just last year, "I was having a tough year for car sales. It seemed like we were getting fewer sales, then we were getting fewer calls, then we were getting fewer web visits. The web had been our primary source of leads for many years and it just seemed like our competitor was not sharing this problem. We spoke with Jonathan and he explained that site traffic for our primary search terms had gotten more competitive and needed to be implemented better on our website. He gave us an in-depth strategy and within a few weeks, we saw our numbers increase across the board. Jonathan was a worthwhile investment.?

The web is a competitive market in of itself. Being visible is only part of the problem when it comes to utilizing the web to attract customers and clients. Jonathan encourages any businesses that want to increase their ranking and ultimately increase their profits to visit his website: <https://agenceseomontreal.business.site> or call to schedule a consultation.
