November 01, 2018

November 01, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Pro Plumbers Manchester has announced the official start-up of their business. The company is a small plumbing business that is located in Manchester, United Kingdom.

Pete Hodges is a spokesperson for the new company, and he says, "We are pleased to announce our official opening. We have more than 15 years of plumbing experience and have served the local community of Manchester during that time. We offer some services from bathroom installation to plumbing repairs, and we offer emergency services, as well."

Hodges says that the plumbing service can handle any plumbing issue that may arise from a leaky pipe or boiler to a full-scale blowout of a water main. The company says that they offer a free quote to every customer and that the quote comes from a certified local plumber so that customers can ensure that they are getting a quality service.

The local plumbers will be providing a range of services using only registered and experienced personnel for their plumbing repairs and installations. Hodges says that their services range from fixing leaking pipes to unclogging drains, installing domestic appliances, installing water heaters and various others.

"We can handle anything that you need," Hodges says. "If you have an emergency, we can handle that as well. We know that plumbing problems do not just happen during normal operating hours so whether you need us in the morning, at noon, at midnight, even on weekends or holidays, we will be there to solve your emergency plumbing issues."

Hodges says that part of their quality service comes from the materials that they use. He states that they use only the best plumbing and bathroom materials that are available on the market today. He says that their services also include tiling and flooring as well as working with other companies to ensure that bathrooms are designed to the complete satisfaction of the customer.

Hodges says that their wide range of emergency services include burst pipes, clogged drains, flooding from a number of plumbing issues, washing machine or water heater leaks, sewer system backups, plumbing damage from hail, fire and other outdoor influences, and more. He states that the company is dedicated to ensuring that customers never have to worry about emergency plumbing issues and says that immediately upon calling, the customer can count on an experienced and qualified technician to be on their way to solve the issue.

The company offers information on their website related to plumbing issues and how home and business owners can look out for any problems that they may have with regards to plumbing. Hodges says that anyone who has questions about the new company's range of products or anyone who would like to learn more about their plumbing services can visit them on their official website. The company states that they are available for plumbing and heating repairs and that they offer a fast response time. They have a team of local emergency plumbers that are accessible 24 hours a day and every day of the year.

In addition to traditional plumbing services and bathroom installations, the company also provides gas installation. Hodges says that they can handle any gas issue from gas leak repairs to pipe installations and replacements. He says that not everyone is qualified to provide gas services, and he states that the company has technicians on staff who are licensed and certified gas plumbers to handle any gas issue or emergency that may arise. Hodges states that the company will measure as needed and determine the gas service design that will best suit the individual home or business. Once this is done, the gas plumbing will be installed safely and correctly throughout the process, and the company states that they double check the gas pressure and check everything several times to ensure that all are done correctly. They state that they always do things up to code and according to regulations and standards.

Hodges says that any home or business owner in the Manchester area can contact the company to learn more about the services that they can provide. He says that those who are looking for a qualified, honest and reliable plumbing service should contact them today to schedule a free consultation. He states that Pro Plumbers Manchester is fully licensed and insured to provide a wide range of plumbing type services and says that those who have questions can visit the website to learn more or contact the company directly to speak with a qualified staff member.
