

Foundation Repair Company Announces New Website

November 14, 2018

November 14, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

GL Hunt Foundation Repair in Carrollton, Texas has announced that their new website is now up and running. The company provides pier and beam foundation repair as well as inspections and other services in Carrollton and the surrounding areas.

Gary Hunt, co-founder and co-owner of the company says, "We are pleased to be able to provide information about our business to our customers on our official company website. You can find everything you need to know about the services we provide, where we provide them and even contact information."

Hunt says that the company offers repairs for the two types of foundations that are used in Texas in homes. Pier and beam foundations and concrete slab foundations are the most commonly used in the state and Hunt states that GL Hunt Foundation Repair provides inspections and repairs for both of these. He says that the company's newly designed website has more information about both of these types of foundations.

The site, which can be seen at <http://carrollton.glhunt.com/>, provides general information about home foundations as well as information about the repair services offered by the company. Hunt says that the company hires only the most professional and experienced technicians to work with them to ensure that customers get the best possible service. He says that their professional staff will help home or business owners to better understand the problem with their foundation and then provide the services needed to solve those problems.

“Whatever foundation type you have,” says Hunt, “We can repair it for you. We are glad to be of service in the Carrollton area and look forward to providing our customers with the quality of repairs that they expect.”

Hunt says that there are a number of things that can cause an issue with foundations. He says that their staff of experts knows all about foundations and can help homeowners to better understand why their foundation is experiencing issues. He says that seasonal moisture is a threat to foundations as it can cause them to crack. When moisture seeps into the soil below a foundation, the earth will expand which can cause the foundation to crack. Hunt says that the common humidity in Texas causes a major problem for foundations and that having a cracked foundation is not at all uncommon.

The company states that they can provide homeowners with a foundation inspection Carrollton to ensure that their home’s foundation is in good shape. Hunt states that those who feel that they may have a problem or any home or business owner that simply wants to eliminate the worry of whether or not they have a foundation issue can contact the company to schedule an inspection.

Hunt says that there are many things that can cause foundation issues, from the moisture to the lack of proper foundation pouring and many others. He states that because the foundation is a pivotal part of the home, it is crucial that homeowners pay attention to this area and ensure that it is always in its very best condition. He says that while there are a number of issues that could affect a home’s foundation, the company offers a number of solutions for repairs. Hunt states that their new website gives consumers more information about what they should look for with regards to foundation issues and some general information about foundation types and the problems that they could incur. Hunt says that those who feel that they need foundation repair can contact the company for a no obligation inspection and repair cost estimate. He says that they will provide the homeowner with an estimate for repairing the foundation that will never include any hidden costs or fees.

GL Hunt Foundation Repair is a family owned and operated company that was founded in 1987 by Gary Hunt and his father, Bill Hunt. The father and son team began with structural repair of houses in Dallas/Fort Worth and the surrounding areas. Gary Hunt runs the company today with the help of his knowledgeable and experienced staff which he says is comprised of only the best and most qualified technicians in the area.

Hunt says that those in the area who need more information about the services that they offer are welcome to visit the company’s website to read about their offerings as well as the areas that they service. Those interested in a quote or estimate for foundation repair can also contact the company directly to schedule their initial consultation or use the convenient online form that can be found on the company’s newly designed
