December 26, 2018

December 26, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Treasure Coast Mold Pros in Port St. Lucie, Florida has announced that they are now offering mold removal services in the Treasure Coast area. The company provides a number of services related to mold and its removal and abatement.

David M. Davis, a representative for the company says, "Mold can spread very quickly around your home. If you have mold, you need a professional company to get rid of it. We are happy to now be able to help customers in the Treasure Coast area with their mold removal needs."

Davis says that removing mold is not one of those things that home or business owners can do on their own. He says that for the most effective and safest removal, a professional should be called. He says that mold can cause a number of health issues as well as issues throughout the home. Davis states that those who are interested can learn more about mold removal on the company's official website at <https://treasurecoastmoldpros.com/>.

The company says that their service area expansion will now help those in areas that may have been affected by hurricanes or other storms in the past. Davis says that household removal products, such as bleach and some antifungals that are sold over the counter, simply are not strong enough to remove the mold effectively and that not removing all of it could lead to health issues. He says that in addition to removing the actual mold, mildew must also be removed and that most consumers are not aware of how to effectively do that, which could result in spreading the mildew spores throughout the area as opposed to eliminating them.

"You can't simply vacuum or wipe mold away," says Davis. "There is a certain process to effectively removing mold and unfortunately, most home and business owners have no idea what this process is. If you want to effectively and safely remove that mold, you need a professional."

Davis says that specialized equipment is often needed to effectively remove mold. Equipment like air conditioners and fans that blow air is not ideal for removing mold as it can cause the spores to become airborne which would contaminate the entire home. He says that professional equipment will safely remove mold spores without causing them to spread into other areas of the home and that most consumers are not going to have access to this specialized equipment, which is why he states that it is essential that home and business owners who feel that they have mold contact a professional mold removal company as opposed to trying to remove that mold themselves.

Treasure Coast Mold Pros offers expert removal of mold and mildew from within a home or business. The company states that in addition to removing the mold, they will thoroughly clean the surfaces and wipe them down with antimicrobial solutions to make the surfaces safe once again. They state that their goal is to return properties to a more acceptable and safer condition.

In addition to removing mold, the company states that they have methods that can help to prevent that mold from growing back, as well. Davis says that improper cleaning processes can allow spores to escape into the air and spread throughout a home or business. He says that they use safe and proper containment procedures and provide a thorough cleaning after removal to ensure that mold does not grow back in those areas. Davis says that part of the mold removal process is identifying where the mold originated from so that it can be prevented in the future. He says that not only will the company remove the mold but they will locate the source of its growth and help to prevent it from coming back in the future.

Davis states that Treasure Coast Mold Pros in Port St Lucie has been providing effective mold removal services from experienced technicians throughout a number of Florida areas over the years. He says that their technicians have responded to many areas that have been affected by hurricanes and storms including Port St Lucie, Ft Pierce, Vero Beach, and Stuart Florida. The company states that they are more than willing to travel that extra mile to assist customers with their mold removal issues. Davis says that they hire only the most qualified and experienced technicians and that the company is always learning and staying up to date on the latest mold removal methods. He says that their new service areas will allow them to help even more customers and that the company looks forward to working with home and business owners in this new area.
