The company states that they really love the work that they do and this is evident in every job that they undertake. Call us today and experience for yourself why many of our customers in the San Diego area acknowledge that All Clear Tree Service is the smart and well informed choice for your tree projects. You can expect friendly, expert advice and service at an affordable price."

Glen explains that trees in the San Diego area are being infected by harmful and deadly disease at high rates primarily because of the long drought. This is because drought can impose a large amount of stress on trees with the result that these trees become weak and vulnerable. Glen says, "If your trees don't respond to your care, you need to talk to All Clear Tree Service about your options. It may be that your tree is just in need of trimming or it may be best to have the entire tree removed."

The company has a team of trained tree professionals who are able to handle any kind of tree service, such as tree removal, tree trimming and emergency tree services. The company also offers stump grinding and removal, tree pruning, and landscaping.

According to Glen, there are a number of reasons why trees will need to be removed. One instance is when the tree has grown too large for its current location. Furthermore, trees will need to be removed when they are rotting or have died due to disease. The main reason for removing such trees is that they are no longer safe. There is the possibility that the whole tree or severely weakened branches can break and fall down on property and on people.

Glen points out that All Clear Tree Service has the equipment and tools for removing any tree, whether large or small. With the experience and skill of their team of tree professionals and state of the art equipment, the company is able to work efficiently for the safe removal of even the biggest trees. They will use various equipment ranging from aerial equipment and cranes to complex rigging in work areas with very limited space, throughout the San Diego area.

Meanwhile, trimming trees is a necessary task to ensure that trees look their best and more importantly to prevent branches from falling off and causing damage to property and injury to people. With the right tree trimming, trees are kept in the shape that is desired by homeowners. Furthermore, tree trimming will allow homeowners to control the amount of shade and sunlight that is available on their property. And with crown raising, obstructions will be removed allowing people to easily walk under the trees. If the trees happen to be close to roadways, crown raising can provide a clear line of sight for drivers.

Another good reason for tree trimming is to prevent the spread of tree disease. Some diseases originate on the small branches of trees. If the disease is allowed to spread to the whole tree, the tree will eventually die. Thus, it is a good idea to get rid of those branches that have been infected by the disease. All Clear Tree Service can also perform preventive measures to ensure that the disease will not spread and will not arise again.

They are fully licensed and insured, and all of their employees are fully trained and have all the necessary equipment to make sure that when people call them, their tree service requirements will be completed correctly, quickly and safely.
