

SAHE Products Announces Premium Quality Bamboo Chopping Board

December 31, 2018

December 31, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Misra of SAHE Products in Irving, Texas, is happy to announce the launch of their premium bamboo chopping board for their customers in the United Kingdom. SAHE is a kitchen-product promoting business that focuses on finding and launching high-quality kitchen products for their customers. As there are 3 meals every day, a lot of a family's time is spent in the kitchen, so SAHE wanted to provide safe and affordable cookware.

SAHE Products is a family-owned and operated business that wants to help other families like theirs. Mealtime is often the best time for a family to come together and connect, but the family at SAHE thinks mealtime prep is also a great opportunity for a family to bond. As such, they have made kitchen and cooking products their focus for the last 10 years.

When Misra of SAHE was approached in regard to this announcement, he had this to say, "Family is a big focus of our business. Just like you would only feed your family food made with the highest-quality ingredients, we only make our products with the highest-quality materials. We want to ensure that meal prep is always safe and sanitary, so we thought of this bamboo cutting board as a great addition to our product line. We think your family will like it as much as our family does!?

This product is a single, 1-piece bamboo cutting board that comes in two sizes: 22x32 or 24x34. SAHE also carries bamboo cutting board sets that feature smaller bamboo cutting boards for both function and display. However, this cutting board is designed to provide heavy-duty function. It is large enough to cut several items on so that users don't have to clear the board every time they are ready to cut something else. For readers interested in seeing the chopping board, it can be viewed here: <https://amzn.to/2RSescX>.

Tina E., a stay-at-home mom, shared her review of this cutting board, "I really love it. I have always used wooden cutting boards in the past, but they always get warped beyond belief. After my last big wooden cutting board cracked right down the middle from wear-and-tear, I decided to make the switch to bamboo. My SAHE cutting board arrived fast and I put it right to work. It has managed to be used and washed several times a day and still looks as brand new as the day it arrived. I'll never switch back to wood."

This chopping board is made from the finest bamboo and the material lends itself to being both sturdy and durable. The metal handle allows it to be hung easily for display when it is not in use. Both sides can be used for chopping, slicing, or even mincing.

Danny Belfast bought this to use in his small cafe. He shared this review after using it for two weeks, "I think it is a great product. I go through wooden chopping boards in a week and this bamboo one is holding up. I can't use the plastic ones because I slice into meat or vegetables and end up slicing into the board too. I look forward to using this chopping board every day to prepare meals for my patrons. Thanks SAHE!?"

The bamboo chopping board has a blade-friendly surface that gives a bit under the pressure. The bamboo material doesn't allow the growth of bacteria and is also 100% organic - ensuring environmental safety. Additionally, it comes in two great sizes for customers that may need a slightly smaller chopping board for smaller spaces or a larger size for customers with a counter island or deep counter space.

Benita bought two chopping boards for her home cooking projects and was glad to share her thoughts on this product, "I ordered both sizes. I wasn't sure which was going to be the best for my flat space and I had intended on returning the one that didn't fit. But after using the one I had planned to keep, I decided to keep both. The price was good and I loved having a backup cutting board in a different size. It made preparing a lot of dishes easier when I didn't have to worry about washing the board after cutting raw meat. I just take out the other cutting board and start working on the vegetables and spices. It really is a great chopping board!?"

SAHE is also dedicated to customer excellence and stands by the quality of their chopping board. However, they understand that this product isn't the perfect fit for every single person. In some cases, even the smaller version may still be too big for a small flat. For that reason, SAHE offers a 30-day money back guarantee for chopping board purchasers.
