Hardik Soni of The NJ Center for CoolSculpting is happy to announce that CoolSculpting, a service designed to freeze fat and tighten loose skin, is now available in NJ. CoolSculpting is a cutting-edge technology that freezes fat cells to remove them from the body. The staff at NJ Center for CoolSculpting consists of board-certified doctors, licensed physician assistants and certified aestheticians who have been collectively regarded as national leaders for body contouring.

When approached about this announcement, Hardik Soni had this to say, "Body contouring has become a worldwide phenomenon that promotes stubborn fat loss. Our doctors have been in the profession of helping both men and women look and feel their best - and CoolSculpting is the latest technology to aid in that goal. The procedure is non-surgical and results are seen quickly. It's unlike any other option we've seen before."

The method of CoolSculpting is revolutionary in that it removes unwanted body fat without invasive surgery. This method is FDA-approved and has been deemed safer than surgery. Though many are ideal candidates for this procedure, the physicians at NJ Center for CoolSculpting provide consultation to confirm candidacy. Rebecca Fischer, a mom in New Jersey recently had a CoolSculpting treatment and had this to say about her experience, "I didn't know what to expect, so I was a bit nervous. Everyone at the clinic helped me get comfortable with the procedure. You can tell they've been in this type of business for a long time because they recognized my unease almost immediately. They waited until my nervousness had passed before starting the procedure. I got better results than I had expected and decided to schedule another appointment. I would recommend NJ Center for CoolSculpting to anyone!?"

Since CoolSculpting is a non-invasive procedure, the downtime is quite limited. There may be some tenderness or bruising from the applicator, but it will fade quickly. The technology utilizes controlled cold, which may cause a dulling sensation after the procedure. The doctors assure patients that this is a common and normal sensation after CoolSculpting.

Lesley, a 41-year-old patient from Maryland, decided to try CoolSculpting while she was in New Jersey on an extended business trip. "The treatment itself was not uncomfortable. Afterwards, I felt great. I didn't really notice anything for about 30 days. After day 30 until about a month later, I started noticing my favorite jeans were not as tight anymore. I wasn't having to suck in to get them buttoned. And by that two month period after my CoolSculpting procedure, I was back in my favorite pants and they felt great!?"

The New Jersey Center for CoolSculpting is nestled in the heart of Summit, New Jersey, just outside of New York City. Many New York residents make the trip into Summit just to visit the NJ Center for their CoolSculpting needs. The area is much less busy than the City, so many New Yorkers enjoy making a day out their trip to New Jersey for CoolSculpting.

Some of the most common areas that CoolSculpting can target include the stomach, arms, thighs, and buttocks. However, a patient favorite is the supplemental area - or the chin. Fat tends to rest in the chin longer than any area on the body, and as such, tends to be the most stubborn. Additionally, the skin will loosen here as a person ages, giving the appearance of a double chin, even if there is little to no fat present. CoolSculpting can freeze the existing fat cells in the chin and also tighten the skin to provide a look that any patient will appreciate - women and men alike.

Anne is an older patient who had her first CoolSculpting procedure, targeting several key areas. This was the review she shared about her experience, "It's subtle at first, and then a month later you look and go, "Wow - it really did something!" It really moved the bar for me, and I'm feeling better about myself already. It feels so good to put on anything and know I look as good as I've ever looked. And I didn't say that or feel that when I was in my 20's, 30's, and 40's."

NJ Center for CoolSculpting is now accepting new patients and consultations at their location in Summit, NJ. They can be visited here: <http://bit.ly/2KzRwLJ>. Hardik Soni suggests that anyone considering CoolSculpting call or visit right away. Winter is our busiest season as well-versed CoolSculpters know it takes time and sometimes several visits to get the results they are looking for. They know they can't wait until the spring or summer if they want to have their body ready for bathing suits and beach season. Currently, we are also offering $1200 off your first CoolSculpting session, so definitely don't delay!?
