July 01, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Freddie and Sebbie, a Las Vegas, NV business, is proud to announce that their auto backseat organizer has been awarded the highest rated product of its kind on Amazon by their customers. Since having been launched, it has received over 150 positive reviews on Amazon, almost all of them being five star reviews. To celebrate, the item is currently available at a 20% discount, meaning it costs just $19.97 instead of the usual $24.97.

"We are so proud to see that so many people are enjoying our product!" says Neil Speight from Freddie and Sebbie. "When you launch something on Amazon, there is always the question as to whether or not your customers are going to like it, no matter how much you believe in your own product. To see that so many people are noticing the exact benefits that we wanted to put forward is an honor in itself. To say thanks, we will offer our organizer with a 20% discount for a limited time."

Not only has the company released it with a 20% discount, they are also offering it with free shipping. This will hopefully encourage even more people to purchase it for themselves or as a gift. While many people believe it is only suitable for people with children, who need a lot of storage space in the back, it can actually be used by anyone.

The various useful pockets on the organizer means that people can store things such as drinks, tablets, mobile phones, road maps and more in the organizer. It can fit the majority of vehicles as it clips onto the back of the headrest of the front seat of either the passenger or the driver. It keeps the entire vehicle neat and tidy, while at the same time stopping belongings from moving about in the vehicle and getting damaged.

The auto backseat organizer reviews have been overwhelmingly positive since it was first released. "I must tell you that this back seat organizer is one of the most useful products I have ever used in my car or truck," says D. Blankeship. "It is extremely well made, can be installed instantly and has enough pockets and such to handle just about any of the small stuff I haul around. Now I no longer have kids so the stuff I place in this thing is big boy stuff."

Indeed, this is just one auto backseat organizer review, but they all emulate the same feelings: that it is a high quality, versatile and incredibly useful product. The product also comes with a full lifetime product guarantee. Hence, purchasing it, particularly at the current special offer, is risk free.
