November 29, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Jonathan Genish of Blackstone Law announces that they are shifting one of their focus areas of personal injury law to motorcycle accidents. Blackstone Law has been operating as a personal injury, wrongful death, and business litigation law firm since 2008. Attorney Genish oversees each case personally to ensure excellent results for his clients.

When asked about this announcement, Attorney Jonathan Genish had this comment to share, "Personal injury is a focus area of law that covers a wide variety of injuries. Car accidents, commercial truck accidents, slip and fall? just to name a few. After handling a motorcycle case, I realized that motorcycle accident injuries required a deep knowledge of not only law but also motorcycle accident statistics. Seeing that this need wasn't being properly satisfied elsewhere, I decided to delve into the intricacies of motorcycle accident injury in order to provide my clients with a tailored experience."

Blackstone law is known for their persistent and aggressive approach to handling their lawsuits. They know that insurance companies and responsible parties will try to settle for as little as they possibly can, oftentimes for less than the cost of the hospital bills. Jonathan Genish dedicates himself to ensuring that all costs are covered, including vehicle damage, hospital bills, and lost wages, as well as pain and suffering.

Joe S., of West Los Angeles, shared this glowing review on Yelp after his experience with Blackstone Law, "I can't say enough positive things about Blackstone Law. They handled my personal injury case after my car accident. A distracted driver hit my car as I was driving my grandmother home from dinner, and both of us ended up in the hospital. Fortunately, I had Jonathan on my side. He was knowledgeable, understanding and very compassionate. He filed a case against the driver and the insurance company, and we walked away with payment for our medical expenses and compensatory damages. I couldn't have asked for a better personal injury lawyer. I know the situation could have turned out very differently without his help."

While many think of motorcycle accidents as a collision between the motorcyclist and a driver operating a full-sized vehicle, Blackstone Law cautions that there are other causes for motorcycle accidents. They understand that motorcycle drivers are often very skilled and take the appropriate precautions to ensure safety - still accidents happen. They may happen as a result of road conditions or the city layout, often resulting in bodily, vehicle, and property damage. Blackstone fights for their motorcyclist clients to get the compensation they deserve as a result of these types of accidents. Motorcyclists who have recently been injured in an accident are urged to learn more.

Alex F., a resident of Modesto, CA, was happy to share this review, "I was recommended to these folks by a different law firm. They are on the case like ASAP. I know some cases are more difficult than others but they will get it done. I would like to say Thank You All to the folks on my case. Ya'll did an amazing job doing what you do. God each one of you. I will recommend you to anyone in need. Thank you all again."

Personal injury lawsuits require a lot of knowledge, experience, and expertise in the targeted field. While Jonathan Genish has the knowledge and experience to assist in any personal injury claim, he has made motorcycle accidents his expert focus. A motorcycle accident attorney needs to be knowledgeable of the specific motorcycle laws as well as the costs that are incurred as a result of a motorcycle accident. Attorney Genish has spent the time educating himself in these areas.

Bobby R., another Los Angeles resident, sought the expertise of Jonathan Genish for his lawsuit. This was the experience he shared, "Phenomenal professionalism from top to bottom. Everyone in this office was so courteous and so kind from the minute I walked in until our case was settled. Mr Genish handled the case from beginning to end and every time I called he returned my call within minutes. I've dealt with many lawyers before and never have I received the kind of personal and professional attention I received from this firm."

Blackstone Law is dedicated to providing a premium experience the moment a client walks through their doors. From consultation to the courtroom, Jonathan Genish provides an all-inclusive experience. He ensures that his clients understand the steps of the process, as well as how long they should expect it to take. Though he tries to work fast to get results for his clients, some processes take longer than others, especially when the responsible parties refuse to take ownership of their mistake.
