December 07, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

IWED Global is happy to announce their wedding and event planner career assistance programs and services. The Institute of Wedding and Event Design is an education company that has been in the business of teaching wedding and event planners the inner workings of the industry for over 25 years. Students of IWED learn the skills necessary to successfully plan events of all sizes, including weddings. Additionally, IWED teaches their students how to run and operate their own wedding and event planning business if they don't want to work for an agency.

When approached about this announcement, the founder of the Institute of Wedding and Event Design had this to say, "For anyone that has thrown a large event or a wedding of any size, they already know that planning is an undertaking. If you don't have proper training and knowledge of planning, you are going to miss something. Chances are, you are going to miss a lot of little somethings. At IWED, we make sure this doesn't happen by providing a proper education with the skills of event planning.

Lorrelle Braggs participated in the live classes and shared her review of the experience on Facebook, "This was a great experience. Cathy, Cynthia, Carmen and Antoine were very knowledgeable and fun. There was never a dull moment in the class. I was able to meet other fabulous event designers and we all traded secrets. This is a class that I would highly recommend for those who want to perfect their craft and expand their business.?

Classes can be taken live in Deerfield Beach, Florida or students can choose the online experience. Additionally, there are specific classes for decor and floral arrangements if event planners want to improve a specific aspect of their planning skills. IWED shares many blog posts with their students to help them advance their careers beyond the classes. In their most current post, they focus on the key elements to starting a wedding planning business. In the previous blog post, they covered the benefits of professional floral design.

Lisa Geter-Norman is another coordinator who had a great experience with the Institute of Wedding and Event Design. This was the glowing review she shared, "Class was amazing! The instructors were amazing and very knowledgeable. They were very helpful and very Hands-On with all of the students. The classes were so much fun and so entertaining that when it was time to go we didn't realize how many hours had actually passed by. I can't wait for all of the new elements they plan to add to this program. Thanks for an amazing time!?"

Institute of Wedding and Event Design also has classes that go on tour to major cities. Some cities include Boston, Dallas, New Orleans, and New York City. Classes span 5 days and the planner leaves the program with a certificate of accreditation. IWED also offers payment plans to make the classes more affordable.

Harriet Boss Boglin took advantage of their traveling classes and shared this review, "I'm very Grateful I was able to take course this year... in my city and didn't have to travel... It was an awesome learning experience... I learned a lot and I look forward to using the training and new skills learned to launch my Wedding & Event Design Business." Visit their Facebook Page to read more 5-star reviews.

Once planners have completed the Event Design course with IWED, they have the option to complete the Event Design Master Certification Program. Institute of Wedding and Event Design partnered with the North American Academy of Wedding and Event Planning to offer an advanced degree program that awards the graduate with the title of Master Level Accredited Event Designer.

For wedding and event planners who aren't ready to take the plunge or simply have more questions. IWED also offers one-on-one consultations. They are transparent with their course offerings and are glad to assist prospective students with their decision.
