December 04, 2018 -
Water Heaters Now! in Minneapolis, Minnesota has announced that their website now includes pages that are dedicated to those living in and around St Paul, or anyone who wants more information about the city. The company states that they offer services throughout the entire Minneapolis area, including the St Paul metro area.

Ray Snesrud, a representative for the company says, ?We have a page that is now dedicated just to those customers in St Paul. In addition to our main St Paul page, we also have relevant pages for those who just want some general information about St Paul including 10 things to do in the city, and various locations that you may want to visit if you are just in the area for a short time.?

Snesrud says that their sub pages include information about the Minnesota State Capitol building, the St Paul Cathedral, the Como Park Conservatory and the Indian Mounds City Park. He states that this information is provided to those who may be interested in visiting the area or anyone new to the area who may not know about various sights that can be visited. St Paul is a replacement water heater service area of the company, as is the entire Twin Cities region of Minnesota.

Water Heaters Now! specializes in installation and repairing water heaters and says that they hire only the best in the business. Snesrud states that the company offers a number of trusted name brands of products and says that all of their products are made from only the highest quality materials. He says that the company has been providing quality repair and installation services for many years and states that they are pleased to be able to offer some relevant information for those who are planning a trip or a move to the St Paul area.

?We just wanted to help our customers to learn more about the city,? says Snesrud. ?If you are new to St Paul, then you may not know about all of the cool things that there are to do and see here. We want to help you to find your way around and offer some interesting things to do, even if you are only visiting for a short time.?

Snesrud says that there are five additional pages on the company?s website that are dedicated to the city of St Paul and that offer information about a number of things to see and do in the city. He says that while the company?s product focus is primarily on water heaters, their main focus has always been and will always be their customers. He states that aside from the installation of new products, the company also provides removal of old heaters and clean up as part of their overall service, and at not additional charge to the customer.

He says that this is just one way that they go above and beyond what other companies offer and states that they will continue to do little things like these for their customers in order to ensure their complete satisfaction.

Water Heaters Now! has been in operation in Minnesota for a number of years, serving customers throughout the Twin Cities area. Ray Snesrud is a master plumber who has years of experience in plumbing and in water heater installation. Snesrud says that customers in the area who would like more information about any of their products or services can visit them online to learn more. Their website includes general pages about the company and what they do as well as the newly added pages that focus on the city of St Paul and the many things that the city offers. Those interested can visit the website to learn more or contact the company directly to schedule a service, repair or installation. The company offers tankless and traditional water heater options. All of their current products and services can be seen in their entirety on the company?s official website.
