Flesher Home & Away Realty Announces Educational YouTube Channel for Home Buyers

December 04, 2018

December 04, 2018 -
Bill Flesher of Flesher Home & Away Realty is happy to announce that they have started an educational YouTube channel, offering helpful information for home buyers. Rather than offer videos simply promoting the business, these videos actually offer sage advice about what to look out for when buying a home. While there are also videos that promote specific properties, the majority of the videos focus on helping home buyers, regardless of the realtor they decide to partner with.

When approached about this announcement, Bill Flesher offered this comment, ?I understand that homebuyers are often hesitant about buying a home, especially the first time. We know it is a big investment and that there are a lot of companies and home sellers out there that want to take advantage. So, we?ve decided to start an educational channel in order to help home buyers with tips and tricks when they are in the market for a home. We just hope that this series of videos will help home buyers feel more confident about their decision to buy a home.?

In one of the educational real estate videos, Bill Flesher and his team explain what to look for when inspecting the electrical panel of a home. In another video, they provide an air conditioning preventive maintenance checklist and explain the importance of utilizing this checklist.

A homebuyer on Zillow was happy to share this 5-star review regarding their experience with Flesher Home & Away Realty, ?My fiancé and I had been renting for a while and decided it was time to venture into becoming homeowners. Bill was the perfect individual to help us to find that perfect home. He very professional and attentive to our wants and needs for our future home. He was not just in the process to complete a sale, but he was looking to find a home that would be the best fit for us. He made the process of purchasing a home enjoyable. Thanks to him we found the perfect place to call home.?

Flesher Home & Away Realty also includes videos on their channel about creating an affordable budget for home buying. They understand that it can be tempting to go over budget, especially when the process has been long and exhausting, but they want to ensure that buyers don?t overspend. They also offer more financial advice, such as what it means to be prequalified for a home loan and what kind of credit score you would need to buy a house.

Kenny H., a Surprise, AZ resident, shared this shining review about his experience with Bill Flesher, ?My family felt very comfortable going with William to sell our home due to his professionalism and knowledge of the market. William took the time to explain the process in detail, as this was our first time selling a home. Not only were we able to get the price we wanted for sale, but we also had our home under contract in less than 24 hours! We were absolutely impressed and William made the process a breeze! I highly recommend William if you?re looking for a realtor that is motivated and cares about your family as much as his own. William, thank you so much for making this process very easy. We couldn?t have done this without you!?

In several of their first videos, Bill Flesher and his team explain the different loan types and also explain the role of the underwriter. They understand that when a homebuyer enters the market and partners with a realtor, they end up with a lot of technical terms being used, and they want to make sure that buyers understand these terms before agreeing to them.

Phoenix resident, Rigoberto Gamez, was happy to share this review on Zillow, ?Bill was the absolute perfect person to help me buy my first home. He was there at any time of the day that I needed him and was willing to go and look at MANY houses with me. My schedule wasn't the easiest to work with, but he definitely helped us find something that worked and got me into a house that isn't just a good price for me, but he got me into something that fits my life now, and later on as well. I would definitely recommend anyone that is looking for a home to give Bill a chance to help them!?
