

Chicago Website Design SEO Company Announces Their WordPress Hosting Reviews

December 04, 2018

Chicago, Illinois - December 04, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Jack Lombardi of Chicago Website Design SEO Company is happy to announce their Wordpress hosting review. Chicago Website Design SEO Company has been offering website design and marketing services since 2003, with a strong focus in SEO marketing since 2011. They cater to businesses all over the world, always ensuring they are knowledgeable in keyword and marketing trends globally.

When approached about this announcement, Jack Lombardi shared this comment, "A big part of marketing is testing out different marketing strategies. With many businesses, it is trial and error, but rather than test our strategies out on our clients, we test them out on ourselves before we offer them to our clients. We also strive to be transparent in the process by release open and honest reviews about our experiences with different strategies. That is what we've done here with our experience with Wordpress hosting."

The first step to an effective marketing strategy is to have a sales funnel built into a sleek website design. In order to provide a seamless experience to prospective customers and clients, that involves smooth website hosting that can handle the volume of visitors that a business receives. Chicago Website Design SEO Company tested hosting with several different website hosting companies, and shared a WPX review on their website, reviewing the hosting capabilities of WordPress.

Ruby B., a Chicago resident and business owner, shared this 5-star review on Yelp, "Jack and his staff have been great from the beginning. Results I was told to expect were right on track. I highly recommend using Chicago Website Design SEO Company for all of your SEO needs. I love their approach taken to maximize results. Jack took the time to explain things to me as I didn't have the best knowledge of how things worked. Great company and great honest/fair people to work with!?"

Chicago Website Design SEO Company understands the importance of small business SEO. Using the right keywords and key phrases to drive traffic to a well-built website is the second step of an effective marketing plan. This strategy requires top knowledge of keyword trends and understanding search engine algorithms that determine ranking.

Alex M., a Canadian business owner, decided to work with Chicago Website Design SEO Company based on their overwhelmingly positive reviews from all over the world. He shared this review, "I hired Lead King to build a website. They built it fast and to the specs using Wordpress as a platform with a number of plugins to help with rankings in search engines. There are web companies that good at building branding sites, e-commerce site, and other types of sites that don't offer much to a local business. Local businesses need websites that convert clicks into leads and customers. And that's exactly what I got here. Now, with lead / customer conversion sites, you have to walk a very fine line to follow Google's guideline or else they won't let you advertise it in their network. Result: not only the site from Lead King looks great and converts well, it's in full compliance with Google rules and it's got accepted into their ad network right away."

In the WPX hosting review that Chicago Website Design SEO Company offered, they explain the purpose of their testing and review. Specifically, they demonstrate why a business needs a fast website and whether or not WPX hosting can provide that. They also delve into the additional benefits that businesses get when hosting with Wordpress and included a WP engine review. They even detail what happened when they ran into a problem and how quickly it was resolved.

Lou L., a business owner in Shorewood, IL, shared his experience with Chicago Website Design SEO Company, "I never thought my business would ever be more than just word of mouth. I had just enough business to keep a float, however ever since we started using Chicago website Design SEO company our business has boomed! I was referred by C&J services hearing and air company. Chicago Website Design SEO company are the best in what they do, actually they are experts! Thank you, thank you!! Keep up the hard work!?"
