December 05, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

GL Hunt Foundation Repair in Carrollton, Texas has announced a new review. The company recently announced that they have received a new Google review from a satisfied customer. The review can be seen at <https://carrollton.glhunt.com/>.

Gary Hunt, owner of the company says, "We are always pleased to receive feedback from our satisfied customers. We strive to ensure the complete satisfaction of our customers in everything that we do and we are pleased to have received such positive feedback."

GL Hunt Foundation Repair offers a wide range of services for customers in and around the Carrollton area. The company provides repairs for pier and beam as well as concrete foundations, in addition to inspections to ensure that home and business foundations are in the best possible condition for customers. Hunt states that the company recently redesigned their website, which now offers more information on all of the services that they provide.

"Your foundation is critical," Hunt says. "You want to ensure that there are no cracks or breaks in the foundation, as these could seriously damage your home. Our service technicians are all experienced and well trained to be able to spot potential issues so that we can repair those issues for you before they become a major problem.?

Hunt states that the company offers quality pier and beam foundation repair, and that the latest review on Google is from a customer who had their pier and beam foundation issues repaired by the company. The review outlines the process that the company took in repairing the foundation and lists a number of advantages for those who are considering contacting GL Hunt. The reviewer states that the work quality as well as the customer service were both top notch.

Hunt states that this is a typical service. He says that the company always goes out of their way to ensure that each and every customer is completely happy with the job, as well as the overall service that they receive, the cost and the entire process. He states that part of every job is helping the homeowner to better understand what may have caused their foundation issue and the repairs that need to be made.

The company states that a technician will always fully explain the entire process to the customer, ensuring that they understand what needs to be done before they do it. Hunt says that there are many things that can cause an issue with a home's foundation, including inclement weather. He says that GL Hunt Foundation knows everything needed about foundations and how to repair them so they can help homeowners to better understand how their foundation became damaged and what needs to be done in order to ensure that this damage does not continue or worsen.

Hunt says that homeowners who are unsure of whether or not they need foundation repair can contact the company to request an inspection. GL Hunt is a family owned and operated company that was founded in the late 1980s by Gary Hunt and his father, Bill. The company began with simple structural repair in the Dallas and Fort Worth areas and branched out to full on foundation issue repair. Gary runs the company today with the help of his staff and he states that the staff is highly qualified and trained to provide the best foundation services in the region.

Home or business owners in Carrollton and the surrounding areas who feel that they may have an issue with their foundations can contact the company to learn more. Their newly designed website also offers more information including a list of things that can cause foundation damage and tips on what to look for in a repair company. Hunt says that customers in the area can use their online form to schedule a service or contact them directly by phone to request a technician. Those interested in reading the new customer review can do so on Google.
