November 26, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Venice, California (Press Advantage) November 12, 2018: Venice-based Weavy &weavy/& today announced that Jim Brisimitzis, a Quake Capital Managing Partner, has joined as a management advisor to guide the company's embeddable collaboration framework strategy development and implementation.

The &weavy/& collaboration framework enables web application developers (ISV) to embed a complete enterprise collaboration platform into their web application with no engineering development.

Mr. Brisimitzis has a deep technology and venture growth background, having served at Microsoft Corporation as Head of Operations and Growth Programs in Microsoft's Ventures program, and most recently as General Manager of Microsoft for Startups.

At Quake Capital, he will participate in fundraising and investment selection, along with mentoring Quake's portfolio of investments and Accelerator program members.

Said Rickard Hansson, Weavy &CEO and Founder, "We are super excited to have Jim advising our team. He understands the ISV vertical and how much value &adds to web applications. We are excited to have Jim advise our management team on ISV go-to-market approaches."

"I'm delighted to be working with Rickard and the & team to bring this collaboration framework to leading web application developers. It's great to be working with a product that I know will bring much-needed productivity improvement to enterprise web applications," said Mr. Brisimitzis.
